

Health Contract Has $30,000 Price Tag

By DAVE AMEY
Herald Staff Writer

The ball (known as contractual health care for the city of Circleville) changed hands again Monday night as it headed back to city council for discussion, and a final decision.

Members of the County and City Boards of Health met in informal session Monday to discuss terms of the proposed contract that will, if adopted, be of benefit to both the city and county.

Price tag put on the contract by the County was $30,000 a year.

If accepted, citizens of Circleville will receive the same services offered to county residents by the County Health Department. The City Health Department and Board of Health would be dissolved.

Under the proposed operation, the types of programs offered by the County are expected to be more efficient and thorough and there is a possibility of additional services.

Budget of the County Health Department, currently at $71,900 a year, would be increased to approximately $101,850 if the city contracts for health services.

The rough budget, drawn up by Leo Kahanek and the Board of Health, calls for yearly expenses of $68,450 for salaries, $4,700 for supplies, $750 for equipment, $450 for contract-repair, $9,000 for travel expenses, $7,500 for PERS, $3,500 for workmen's compensation, and $3,500 for other expenses.

Additional personnel to make the contractual arrangement effective would need to be hired, but the number and specialties of that personnel could not be determined until the plan was put into operation. It was felt that a full-time health nurse would be required.

If the contract becomes official, the County Board requested an option to lease equipment presently being used by City Health personnel to save on expenses. Items mentioned included two desks, two chairs, two lamps, a typewriter, and a records cabinet. Personnel presently employed by the city would be considered for county work when vacancies arise.

The County Board would like to work under the contract for a two-year period, with negotiations for a new contract starting after the first year. They would also like an ex-officio liaison person appointed by the City Board to sit in at all meetings and discuss problems in the city.

Fees currently collected by the city for issuance of permits would be collected by the county and deducted from the city's cost.

The biggest stumbling block "kicked-around" Monday was the method of payment for the services.

The method, which must be approved by Circleville council, is strictly a bookkeeping matter that will require legal assistance to establish.

Members of the County Board were under the impression that a six-month pre-payment would have to be made by the city if the proposed contract takes effect.

Funds for the operation of the County Health Department are collected from each township, and board members didn't want to extract the added expenses of the city operation from the township trustee treasury.

However, according to Mayor Frank Barnhill, the city couldn't pay such a huge sum of money in one payment.

It was decided, if it can be accomplished legally, to fund the city's contract monthly, or perhaps quarterly.

City council is not expected to discuss the proposal tonight in their regular meeting, although the Board of Health wanted an answer by its next meeting, Oct. 29.

The city should have an answer no later than Nov. 19, according to Mayor Barnhill. That would allow for a maximum three readings of the proposal.

The threatened suspension of William Barthelmas' landfill operator's license was lifted by the Board of Health Monday night after daily inspections of the site by health department personnel revealed that Barthelmas was working to conform the operation to state specifications. Major problems have been or are in the process of being corrected, the board said.

One of the primary complaints, exposed garbage and rubbish, has been covered and landfill workers are constructing a trench to bury each day's collection.

The board cited Barthelmas for striving to maintain standards at the landfill, but said they will watch the operation closely, with possible daily inspections to insure that standards are maintained.

Barthelmas has been threatened with suspension of his license several times in the past, but in each case conformed his operation to the orders of the health department.

The landfill is located on Route 104, south of Route 22, and is the only licensed solid waste disposal operation in Pickaway County.

Family Grocery Bill Rises Again During September

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The family grocery bill followed an all-too-familiar upward pattern during September, an Associated Press marketbasket survey showed, although there were a few bargains at the meat counter.

The cost of eggs, laundry detergent, cookies and sugar generally went up last month, while the price of pork chops and chopped chuck went down.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the prices on March 1, 1973, at a supermarket in each of 13 cities and rechecked at the beginning of succeeding months.

The latest check showed that during September the bill for the 15 items went up in 11 cities and down in two — Seattle, Wash., and Salt Lake City, Utah. On the average, the bill at the start of October was 2.3 per cent higher than it was at the beginning of September and 12 per cent more than at the start of the year.

The latest price boosts in the AP survey generally reflected higher farm prices caused by drought and bad weather in the Midwest. There is some hope for the future, however.

The Agriculture Department said Monday that prices paid to farmers dropped 2 per cent from Aug. 15 to Sept. 15, the first decline since last spring. The lower farm prices could mean lower supermarket prices in a couple of months — if retailers pass along the savings.

Administration officials have said that food prices will continue to rise in 1975, although at a slower pace than in 1974. The 1974 boost in food prices is expected to be between 15 and 17 per cent, officials say.

The latest AP survey showed that the price of a dozen, medium white eggs went up during September in 12 of 13 cities checked. Eggs were not available at the 13th supermarket. Despite the increases, however, eggs remained cheaper than they were at the start of the year, averaging 13 per cent less than they did at the beginning of January.

Detergent, which remained fairly stable in price earlier, started rising during September, due to higher manufacturing costs caused by increases in prices charged for raw materials.

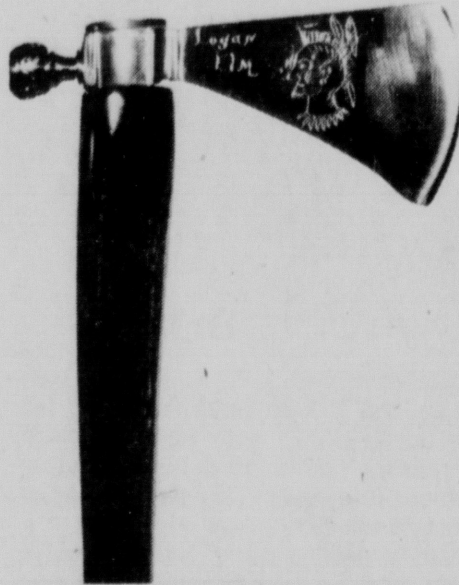

The price of laundry detergent went up in nine cities during September, rising an average of 8 per cent. The price went down in one city and was unchanged in three.

Center cut pork chops went down in seven cities, with the declines ranging up to 30 per cent in Seattle where the price dropped from $1.69 a pound to $1.19. Chopped chuck was down in six cities.

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, chocolate chip cookies, milk, all-beef frankfurters and granulated sugar.

The cities checked were: Albuquerque, N.M., Atlanta, Ga., Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, Salt Lake City and Seattle.

Logan Elm Event Is Saturday

TOMAHAWK—This peace pipe tomahawk, handcrafted by Robert Ely, 1117 McGraw Road, will be presented to the Pickaway County Historical Society Saturday during the Logan Elm Bicentennial ceremonies scheduled to begin 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

Pickaway County's observation of the American Revolution Bicentennial begins this weekend.

Chief Logan Bicentennial ceremonies will be held at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at Logan Elm State Park. Acting Director Charles C. Pratt of the Ohio Historical Society will talk about the nationwide Bicentennial program and the specific events of interest that occurred on the Pickaway Plains in 1774. Most historians hail these pre-revolutionary events as vitally important in the eventual success of the American Revolution.

Reed Masse, landscape architect of the OHS, will dedicate a plaque to be placed on the site of the famed Logan Elm. In co-operation with Cole Nursery a blight resistant elm tree will be planted.

Robert Ely of Circleville, an outstanding artisan, will present the Pickaway County Historical Society with a peace pipe tomahawk he has handcrafted. The blade is similar to those used by the Indians of the Pickaway Plains. The handle of this tomahawk was fashioned by Mr. Ely from an authentic piece of the famed Logan Elm.

Rev. David Allardice of the Episcopal Church will give the invocation. The Logan Elm band will provide music for the event and Boen Hallum will read Chief Logan's famed speech.

This celebration is part of the Pickaway County Historical Society's Bicentennial Activities.

Gilligan Meets With Builders On Housing Act

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. John J. Gilligan is meeting today with Ohio businessmen and builders to discuss the new federal housing act and its anticipated effect on the state's building industry.

Gilligan invited 23 industry leaders to the one-day Statehouse conference to "begin formulating reasonable solutions to the building industry's current crisis."

A major topic on the agenda will be the federal Housing and Community Development Act and its impact on pending state legislation for a state housing finance agency. Gilligan said the finance agency could use the new law "to bring federal dollars to Ohio to build housing."

Watergate Trial Jury Selection Is Under Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once-mighty officials of the Nixon administration went on trial today on charges they tried to block the investigation of the June 1972 Watergate break-in.

At 9:29 a.m. by the courtroom clock, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica entered the courtroom to preside in the case of "The United States versus John Mitchell, et al."

Most of the seats in the courtroom were taken by a panel of 170 prospective jurors. Sirica told them he would begin by asking general questions to weed out any obviously unqualified and then question the remainder in private.

Twelve jurors and six alternates will be chosen. Sirica has said he hopes to complete the trial before Christmas.

The five defendants include former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and ex-White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman.

The defense and prosecution have subpoenaed former President Nixon as a witness.

Neither Nixon nor his lawyer,

Herbert J. Miller, has made any public response to the subpoenas. Monday, however, Dr. John C. Lungren, the ailing former President's physician, said he believes it would be "at least a month, maybe three months," before Nixon could travel from California to Washington.

Nixon entered Memorial Hospital Center of Long Beach, Calif., a week ago suffering from a recurrence of the phlebitis that troubled him during his last year in office. After he entered the hospital, doctors disclosed that a small blood clot had moved from Nixon's left leg to his right lung.

While still president, Nixon was named an indicted coconspirator in the case. President Ford subsequently granted him a pardon for any federal offenses committed while Nixon was in office.

The defendants sought unsuccessfully to delay the trial until next year on the grounds the unprecedented publicity generated by Watergate, including the resignation and pardon of Nixon, would make it impossible to find unbiased jurors.

Defendants along with Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman are former Assistant Atty. Gen. Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson, one-time attorney for Nixon's reelection committee.

Sirica granted a prosecution motion Monday to hold a separate trial for former White House aide Gordon C. Strachan. However, Sirica refused to dismiss the charges against Strachan, who claimed the case against him was based on testimony he gave under what he thought was an agreement it wouldn't be used against him.

Later in the day, he rejected Mardian's request for a separate trial.

Charges against a seventh defendant, former White House special counsel Charles W. Colson, were dismissed after he pleaded guilty in a separate case.

All five defendants are charged with one count each of conspiracy to obstruct justice. All but Mardian also are charged with one count each of obstruction of justice.

In addition, Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman are charged with lying to authorities investigating the break-in and cover-up.

The indictment, returned by a federal grand jury last March 1, alleged that all five defendants conspired to thwart the investigation of the break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters in order to hide the identities of the administration and Nixon campaign officials who planned and knew about it.

Standard Time Returns On Oct. 27

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has given more weight to public convenience than the energy shortage by voting to restore standard time in the nation this winter.

Senate passage without debate or dissent Monday sent the bill to President Ford, who is expected to sign it.

As a result, virtually all Americans will set their clocks back one hour Oct. 27, ending 10 straight months of daylight saving time. The only exceptions will be residents of eastern Indiana, Hawaii, Arizona, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Samoa, who observe standard time 12 months a year.

Next Feb. 23, clocks will be set forward an hour. Then, unless Congress intervenes again, the regular pattern of daylight time six months a year would be resumed in October 1975.

Year-round daylight time was approved by Congress last December as an energy-conservative measure, and became effective Jan. 6 for a 22-month period.

The Senate Commerce Committee, in recommending a return to standard time during November, December, January and February, reported the equivalent of 100,000 barrels of oil per day was saved during the first four months of 1974 because of daylight time.

But such savings "must be balanced against a majority of the public's distaste for the observance of daylight saving time" during the winter, the committee said.

Doctors Believe Mrs. Ford Has Chance At Longer Life

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Lady Betty Ford's doctors say they remain optimistic for her "prolonged survival" despite discovery of some cancer cells in lymph gland tissue removed during breast cancer surgery.

And the President said he certainly shares that optimism, although he said the pathology report raises some questions. Statistics indicate that finding of cancer cells in lymph nodes in such cases usually diminishes chances for a long-term cure.

Paying a visit to his wife Monday night after the final pathology report was issued, the President said he had "full faith in the doctors — I think they're the experts and we'll follow their advice."

He noted a great improvement in his wife's condition and described her as "much, much better."

"With her strong, fine attitude," the President said of his wife, "I think everything will work out all right."

Mrs. Ford's doctors, Navy Capt.

William Fouty, who performed the surgery, and White House physician William Lukash, said the final pathology report, an examination of tissues removed in the operation, showed:

"Microscopic involvement of cancer in only 2 out of 30 lymph nodes. There was no involvement in local blood vessels."

"Considering that only two lymph nodes were involved and that there is no clinical evidence of cancer spread to other areas," they said they "remain optimistic for a prolonged survival."

After the three-hour surgery Saturday on Mrs. Ford, Fouty, chairman of surgery at the Bethesda Naval Medical Center, was asked if discovery of some malignancy in lymphatic tissue would be an ominous sign.

He said, "This would not be particularly an ominous sign. It would not be particularly a bad sign. People do respond to further therapy. There would be no more surgical procedures done because all of this tissue would be removed."

And, now that they have the findings in hand, the doctors said that the next step in Mrs. Ford's case will be to make special diagnostic studies to decide whether x-ray, hormonal or chemotherapy should be used "to insure maximum treatment of this cancer."

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market posted another broad decline today, but cut its losses with a late-morning technical upswing.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, off close to 13 points at its worst, showed an 8.76 decline at 599.11 at noon. Losers held a 2-to-1 edge on gainers at the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said investors remained unhappy and concerned over the possible broad implications of inflation and the world oil situation for the economies of the United States and other nations. They noted that the slight recovery just before noon apparently reflected a technical response to the Dow's slide below 600.

American Telephone & Telegraph was the Big Board's most-active stock, down 1 at 40. A 204,600-share block of the issue traded at that price.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down .33 at 62.52.

The NYSE's noon composite index of all its listed common stocks was down .34 to 33.11.

Syntex was the Amex volume leader, off 1 1/2 at 28 1/2.

Sheriff Re-Stresses Crime Prevention

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight E. Radcliff re-emphasized the need for every citizen to take a more active role in crime prevention. He stated that with FBI figures showing an overall 15 per cent increase in crime throughout the nation, it is obvious the police cannot alone cope with the problem.

He quoted Ferris E. Lucas, Executive Director of the National Sheriffs' Association, as saying that much crime is victim-assisted. He asked: "How many times have each of us been guilty of leaving an unattended car or truck unlocked, or not checking to make sure all doors and windows are secured before leaving our home or business?"

Radcliff continued saying that with children now back in school, many Mothers who work during the school year, there are fewer persons in any neighborhood who might notice a thief or burglar at work. This increases the possibility of successful daytime intrusions, and, coupled with the longer hours of darkness, intensifies the problem of preventing or controlling crime.

He described a program being conducted locally which is designed to decrease criminal opportunity by increasing citizen awareness and involvement. This is the National Neighborhood Watch project, being conducted through his office. Radcliff stressed that the program is of little value without the support and participation by responsible citizens.

The Sheriff said that at the present time he has an adequate supply of materials to alert the citizen to some simple steps to protect their property. All of the project material is free and may be acquired for the asking.

An information kit may be obtained by writing Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, 121 W. Franklin St., Circleville, 43113; or phone the Community Relations Unit at 474-3018.

Radcliff notes that opportunity plus desire equals crime. By availing yourself of the free material available, citizens can do a lot to decrease the opportunity for crimes to be committed in your neighborhood.

If you help him, help you, crime in Pickaway County can be decreased.

Terrorists Boil Down Demands

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — United States officials think the terrorists holding seven hostages in the Venezuelan consulate may have abandoned their demand for $1 million ransom.

With the siege going into the fifth day, State Department spokesman John King said in Washington that the six leftist guerrillas' demands "seem to have boiled down to safe conduct" out of the country for themselves and 37 terrorists in Dominican prisons. He said that the earlier money demand had not been repeated.

The Dominican government rejected all the demands, offering only to fly the six terrorists out of the country. The U.S. government has consistently refused to pay ransom or meet other demands from such terrorists.

"The question now is on whose side is time?" one Dominican official said.

He confirmed that the guerrillas have set three deadlines, but each has passed without the threat to start killing the hostages being carried out.

The captives include Barbara Hutchison, director of the U.S. Information Service in the Dominican Republic; Venezuelan Consul Jesus de Gregorio, and others.

Bishop Hugo Polanco Brito of the Roman Catholic diocese of Santo Domingo reported after a visit to the consulate Monday that he learned of the presence of a seventh hostage, a messenger named Pegero who is 21 or 22.

The bishop is now making daily deliveries of food and medicine to the consulate and bringing out messages from those inside. He delivered a note Monday from Miss Hutchison to U.S. Ambassador Robert Hurwitch, who reported, "It is obvious that she is still in good spirits and as courageous as she always has been."

President Joaquin Balaguer met with Hurwitch, the Venezuelan charge d'affaires and the Spanish ambassador on Monday to discuss the situation. No details were given.

The leader of the terrorists, Rafael Mendez Vargas, sent a note out referring to "a wounded man" inside the consulate, and asking for medicine. One report said one of the guerrillas accidentally shot himself in the foot Friday.

Panel Eyes School Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A temporary legislative commission is scheduled to meet today to hear proposals for changing the complicated way in which the state funnels money to Ohio public schools.

The Education and Administration Review Commission has learned in previous meetings why the school foundation formula is not providing an equal flow of dollars to elementary and secondary schools.

Today a team of Syracuse researchers will present alternatives to the deductible millage formula — a sliding scale providing state funds based on a school district's property tax valuation.

The consultants from the Syracuse University Research Corp. also are expected to discuss a complete changeover in the foundation program to an equal yield plan, guaranteeing school districts a minimum level of state dollars for each mill of locally determined tax rate.

Police Find Drugs; Coin Box Damage

Circleville Policeman Ron Smith had a busy morning Tuesday, discovering hallucinogens in a car and finding damage to a coin box at a local service station.

Ptl. Smith watched a car drive from the Union 76 station at the intersection of Lancaster Pike and Nicholas Dr. to the Kroger parking lot 1:14 a.m. this morning and stopped the vehicle at Diltz Citgo after it circled the super-market parking lot.

Ptl. Smith and Sgt. Larry Pontious obtained the identification of the five occupants of the vehicle and were given permission to search it.

They discovered a plastic bag under the driver's seat that contained a suspected hallucinogen.

Driver of the car, Keith B. Lee, 18, Columbus, was charged with possession.

At 3:46 a.m., Ptl. Smith discovered that thieves removed the coin box from a soft drink machine at Roy's Arco Station, Route 1.

The machine, which was pryed open, sustained about $30 damage.

The thieves also attempted to pry open the door of the station.

Fire Injures Sheriff's Wife

Mrs. Dwight Radcliff, 121 W. Franklin St., received first and second degree burns in what was described as "a near catastrophe" at the Sheriff's home, 5:30 p.m. Monday.

The Sheriff's wife, went into the kitchen, of the combined home-office, to fix supper for the family.

The stove exploded as she was lighting it, burning Mrs. Radcliff's face, hand and a part of her clothing. The eldest son, Dug, assisted his mother by putting the fire out.

Sheriff Radcliff stated his wife was recuperating at her home today.

Toddler Hurt In Accident

Two-year-old Curtis A. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Johnson, 148 Fairview Blvd., was treated for a broken leg and bump on his head after running into a car 1:18 p.m. Monday in front of his home.

Circleville Police said Margie Henning, 45, 165 Fairview Blvd., was driving north on the street when she noticed a small child standing in the yard of the Johnson home.

As she was continuing, Curtis allegedly ran from between two cars parked in front of the house and hit her vehicle.

'Findings For Recovery' Rise

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Every so often—3,875 times in the last three years—the state auditor issues what is called a "finding for recovery."

That means he found a shortage of funds in a public official's account.

"Down in the hills they would call it stealing," said O. F. Knippenburg, an aide to Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, a product of those Ohio hills himself.

Those findings for recovery have been issued by Ferguson's office since 1971, and the 3,875 total doesn't represent a high percentage of pilfering, Knippenburg said.

"That figure represents close to 9,000 audits," he said, "so percentage-wise it isn't that high."

Although the findings total figures out at 43 per cent of the total audits, the actual percentage is about 8 per cent because there may be many separate findings within a single audit.

The total findings over the last three years involved recovery of a total of about $3.7 million, broken down this way: Counties and townships 825 findings, for $1 million; cities and villages 1,462 findings for $2 million; schools 1,512 findings for $512,825; libraries 60 findings for $8,068; state five findings for $64,366, and universities 11 findings for $53,509.

The state auditor finds the shortages, but he doesn't collect them. That's up to a city solicitor, a county prosecutor or, in the case of shortages in state accounts, to the attorney general.

Often the shortage is returned before the audit is completed, Knippenburg said. In those cases, it is noted that repayment has been made.

The local prosecutor can decide whether to make a settlement or press criminal charges against the person involved.

The state always gets its money because public officials handling funds have to post bonds.

"The bonding companies pay the public fund where the shortage occurred," said Knippenburg, "but naturally they want their money back. Then they go after him."

If a local prosecutor takes no action, the auditor's office has up to 90 days to turn the issue over to the Ohio attorney general.

When a state official is involved the auditor is required to give the information it has collected to the attorney general.

In cases where money has been spent out of the wrong fund, the auditor will report the expenditures were illegal but make no finding for recovery unless there was criminal intent.

"When it's an illegal expenditure, but entered into by both parties in good faith and the service contracted for was performed, we won't issue such a finding," said Knippenburg. "We'll point out, though, that it was contrary to the statutes."

Dear Abby:

Definitely Doubts "DAT"

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem I sure hope you can help me with, as everyone I've told this to just laughs at me.

I know I read an article in the Orlando Sentinel Star stating that someone actually mated a dog with a cat, and the offspring was called a "DAT". (Half dog and half cat.)

I read that it looked like a dog, but had fur instead of hair. I'm sure they even ran a picture of it. Now I could kick myself for not cutting out the article and keeping it as proof.

I even went to the newspaper and asked for a back copy, but because I couldn't tell them the exact date, they couldn't help me.

That paper runs your column so maybe if you ask them they will try to find it.

PINKY II

DEAR PINKY: If such a piece ever did appear in the Orlando Sentinel, it was either a spoof or a goof. A "DAT?" DAT'S an impossibility!

Sohio Cuts Gasoline By Penny

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Gas cost a penny less at Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) stations this morning, but Sohio said the price rollback had nothing to do with a government charge last week that the firm was guilty of $10 million in overcharges in the last two years.

The reduction was announced by marketing vice president Robert G. Griffin, who said the price cutback reflected a drop in crude oil costs.

Federal Energy Office regulations require the firm to allow customers to benefit from lower crude oil costs just as they permit prices to be raised once a month to pass through higher costs.

"A decline in Sohio's average per-barrel cost for crude oil has now allowed Sohio to cut prices back a total of five cents per gallon on gasoline since May, which was the high point in the federal government's program to pass through crude oil costs on a monthly basis," Griffin said.

The new pump prices were to be 52.8 cents a gallon for regular and lead-free gasoline and 56.8 cents for premium, he said.

Dealer stations also were required to pass the saving along to the customer, Sohio said.

The prices to dealers were to be 45.5 cents a gallon for regular and lead-free and 49 cents for premium, Griffin said. The prices included 11 cents in state and federal taxes.

Griffin added that gasoline is in good supply and should stay in good supply this winter, barring an unforeseen disruption of market patterns.

Hamilton County Embezzlement Eyed

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A Hamilton County auditor's aide has been suspended and an investigation launched in the disappearance of approximately $10,000 from payroll funds, The Cincinnati Enquirer reported today.

The newspaper said Auditor Joseph L. DeCourcy has suspended Charles F. Hunninghake Jr., 38, supervisor of the department's payroll division.

Hunninghake, promoted to the job in February, 1973, after 11 years with the county, was convicted in 1962 of embezzlement and making false entries in bank records while working for a Cincinnati bank, The Enquirer said.

Shared Problem

Proof that heads of state are preoccupied with internal affairs is the lack of large numbers of foreign leaders coming to Washington to meet the new President. It had become almost a tradition for the parade to form in days after a new incumbent moved into the White House.

Another reason for the near void in official visits is the broad scope of change which has occurred in governments in the last year. One major exception in Washington is the visit of Japanese Prime Minister Tanaka.

Japanese-American relations have improved since they plummeted precariously in 1971, on the heels of two actions by former President Nixon. The unexpected announcement of the Nixon visit to Peking, a total reversal of previous American policy and one made without prior consultation with Tokyo, shocked the Japanese as little else has done since World War II.

In the same year the United States levied a temporary 10 per cent surcharge on imports in an effort to stabilize the trade balance. This tax hit hardest at the Japanese, who were enjoying a huge trade surplus with the U.S.

All that is in the past, but Prime Minister Tanaka is in serious political trouble. A rate of inflation larger than in most of the West and constantly rising living costs have dropped his administration's popularity. Ominous for the U.S., his political party is the only major one which upholds the continuation of a broad defense treaty with the U.S.

Underlying the importance of that relationship is the scheduled trip of President

Ford to Tokyo on Nov. 19. It is a rescheduled trip formerly planned for President Nixon and it will mark two firsts for the new president.

It will be the first time an American president has visited Japan and it will be the first Foreign trip for Gerald Ford since his elevation to the White House.

In a world which in many ways is changing its political relationships too rapidly for comfort, it is important to both nations that Japan and the United States maintain best possible relations. The Tanaka-Ford exchange visits are designed primarily to do just that.

As the dominant industrial and economic force in the Pacific, Japan has a major role to play in world affairs. Its first challenge, like that of the U.S., is to bring its economy under control.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is it possible to look directly into the lungs to find the reason for a cough which has lasted for years? X-rays show my lungs to be normal.

Mr. R.L.B., Ga.

Dear Mr. B.:

An instrument called the bronchoscope can be passed through the mouth directly into the lungs to inspect the inner lining of the bronchial tubes. By this method, almost all of the bronchial tubes can be examined for chronic infection and growths.

Cultures and sputum examination made directly through the bronchoscope add valuable information to the diagnosis of complicated lung conditions.

It is also possible to put a liquid dye through the bronchoscope, allowing the fluid to trickle down into the more inaccessible areas.

Then, by X-ray, the dye is followed in an effort to uncover malformations or diseases that might otherwise remain hidden.

Bronchoscopy can be performed under local or general anesthesia. It is not a routine procedure. It is used when the doctor cannot easily uncover the reasons for a persistent cough.

Is a fissure of the rectum the same as a hemorrhoid?

Mrs. G.C., Wash.

Dear Mrs. C.:

They are not the same, but sometimes they occur together. Hemorrhoids are enlargements of the veins which normally are present around the rectal opening.

Poor bowel habits, straining and chronic constipation can enlarge these veins. The pressure of repeated childbirth can be responsible, too.

A fissure is a slit, or a cleft, that occurs in the skin (the mucous membrane lining) of the rectal opening. Known as "fissure-in-ano," it may also be caused by straining at stool.

When a fissure is neglected a small ulcer forms. Bleeding may occur.

The treatment for fissure and for hemorrhoids is based on individual evaluation of the condition. Local treatment or surgery can be the decision only of the doctor who has followed the course of the problem.

Wife's Bout With Cancer Could Change Ford's Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Betty Ford's bout with cancer has cast a question mark over President Ford's immediate and long-range political plans.

Soon after the First Lady underwent surgery for breast cancer Saturday, the President told aides to curtail his public schedule for the next week.

Ford also enlisted Vice President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller to substitute for him on a planned speech-making trip to Utah and California Tuesday through Thursday.

Mrs. Ford is expected to be hospitalized for at least 10 days, and White House aides say it is questionable whether the President will make any out-of-town speeches during that period.

Also placed in question by his wife's illness is Ford's plans to make 25 or more speeches in behalf of Republican candidates in the two weeks prior to next month's elections.

As he entered Bethesda Naval Medical Center Sunday night to visit with Mrs. Ford, the President was asked about his campaign plans.

"We haven't looked beyond next week," he replied.

Then he was asked about a report that his wife's illness has caused him to reconsider his tentative plans to run for a full term as President in 1976. The response was nearly identical: "We haven't thought beyond next week."

White House aides say the President's political schedule will hinge on the pace of Mrs. Ford's recovery. But they acknowledge that even before her hospitalization, Mrs. Ford was cool to the idea of her husband spending many more years in public life.

Art Show Allowed

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet abstract artists finally succeeded in displaying their work at an outdoor show attended by more than 5,000 persons, but most of them think it will be the last exhibit of its kind.

The artists' first attempt to show their work two weeks ago was broken up by plainclothes police using bulldozers and water cannon. After widespread foreign condemnation, the Moscow city council gave official sanction to an exhibit Sunday.

There were no uniformed police in sight this time, but eight busloads of militiamen were standing by a mile away.

Six of the 61 exhibiting artists were reported to be members of the official artists' union who took part even though they had been warned by the union to stay away. The others were artists whose work does not conform with the realistic style approved by the Communist party.

"This is the first time I've exhibited publicly since 1963 and it will probably be the last for a while," said Misha Chernishev.

Many of the other artists agreed.

Up, Up And Away

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — So suppose you're Malcolm S. Forbes and you've got it made. You've had it made for most of your life: Lawrenceville Academy (cum laude), Princeton, beautiful wife, four stalwart sons and a lovely daughter named Moira, vestryman in the Episcopal church, member of the New York Racquet and Tennis Club, New York Yacht Club, and owner, publisher and editor-in-chief of Forbes Magazine, one of the more prestigious bibles of that downtown New York crossroads named Broad and Wall.

So why do you want to cross the Atlantic Ocean in a balloon? What are you, some kind of a nut?

You've got offices, apartments and homes all over hell 'n' gone, plus boats, cars and a DC-9 that give you vast realms in which to wander. So you and your friend, Dr. Thomas F. Heinshelmer, the aerospace scientist, will spend a week or two in a gondola about the size of a telephone booth and subsist on C-rations. The only exercise available will be standing up after sitting down. You and the doc will sleep in aluminum and canvas cocoons.

You will try the Atlantic bit this coming December or January dangling from a series of 12 gas balloons strung out in four units of three. Vertically, the assembly will stand almost as tall as the Empire State Building. The gondola will sway 400 feet below the uppermost cluster of balloons. Below the gondola will be a 600-foot guide rope. The whole works will be christened "Windborne."

You know, of course, as Lindbergh did, that you can get in a lot of trouble defying the Atlantic. History records 12 efforts to balloon across it. The balloonists who tried batted .000. Here's the box score:

1859 — Two optimists named Had-dock and La Moutaigne ascended from Watertown, N.Y. They also descended on Watertown, and were killed;

1873 — The New York Daily Graphic sponsored a 3-man balloon flight involving hearty souls named Capt. W. H. Donaldson, George Ashton Lunt and Alfred Ford. The takeoff was from Brooklyn. The trans-atlantic flight fell somewhat short — in New Canaan, Conn.

1878 — Samuel King and John Wise of St. Louis — obviously an air-minded town even then — patched together a balloon they named "Atlantic." It was an overstatement. It never got out of St. Louis.

That apparently discouraged Atlantic ballooning ambitions for three or four generations. But the ocean, like Everest, was "there," and therefore must be conquered by a bag of wind. So . . .

1958 — Four Britishers decided that the best way to do it was to sail against, not with, the prevailing winds! They lifted off from the Canary Islands intent upon the West Indies. Incredibly, their "The Small World" traveled 1,200 miles in four days before it ran into a muscular storm that knocked it to the surface of the sea. Their sea-worthy gondola was a marvel. They sailed it safely 1,500 miles to Barbados.

1968-1969 — Francis Brenton, an Englishman, living in Chicago, tried it twice, from the Canaries and from Maderia, and was twice dunked.

1968 — Two Canadians, Mark Winters and Jerry Kostur, rose from Halifax and got as far as 50 miles short of Nova Scotia before their bag sagged.

1970 — Jaunty stockbroker Rodney Anderson and his daring wife Pamela, along with a British professional balloonist named Malcolm Brighton rose from posh East Hampton, Long Island in their heated gas job, "The Free Life." They went down off Newfoundland in a crushing cloud-burst, and the only thing ever found of the ill-starred expedition was a picnic cooler.

1973 — "Yankee Zephyr," manned by Bob Sparks hit the drink less than 24 hours after his launch from Bar Harbor, Me. A Canadian icebreaker fished him out of the water 45 miles northeast of St. John's, Newfoundland.

1974 — Dashing Col. Tom Gatch (U.S. Army reserve), son of a famed World War II vice admiral, sailed away from Harrisburg, Pa. in a fiberglass gondola suspended from ten helium-filled balloons. His ship "Light Heart," was last reported to be 1,000 miles west of the Canary Islands. That was February 21. Nothing since, despite a massive sea search. A $10,000 reward for any information about his whereabouts, posted by his sisters, is still operative.

1974 — Robert C. Berger kissed his wife good-bye at Lakehurst, N.J. and she was still on TV, waving and smiling, when his 12-story helium balloon came apart and he plunged to his death off the Jersey coast.

Anyway, rots ruck Malcolm Forbes, and you, too, Doc. To paraphrase an old Irish wish, may the jetstream be always at your backs.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The biggest components in the selling price of a new, single-family house are generally considered to be the cost of construction materials, 32 per cent, land, 25 per cent, and labor, about 15 per cent.

Since the price of all three has risen sharply in the past few years, so has the sales price of the average new house—from $30,500 in 1972, to $35,500 last year, according to The Conference Board.

Over a 10-year period to 1973, states the board, a business and economic research organization, the price of comparable new homes rose 84 per cent. It cites Federal Home Loan Bank Board figures to indicate that the price tags on existing homes doubled in the same period.

But now the catch. With mortgage money tight and with many families unable to come up with the substantial down payments required, the housing market has shriveled almost to nothingness in many areas.

This means the proud homeowner who brags about his hedge against inflation — "I can get double what I paid for my house" — may be living in an illusory world. If there isn't a market, how can there be a selling price?

True, when the market comes alive again, he might obtain double his money. But if he were to sell today, he might find that big price tag cannot be converted into dollar bills.

Even before the economic summitry of the past month, the subject of credit allocation was being discussed in banking and housing circles, among others.

Advocates of allocation claimed that some deserving sections of the economy, such as housing, were being starved for funds because they couldn't pay the price. Allocation of credit by price alone was unfair, they said.

The arguments against allocation by other criteria, such as social good or greater productivity, were immediately attacked by economists and financial men. Controls on credit, they claimed, would only make matters worse.

What they really were saying, however, was that controls by government would be bad but that controls by private industry, that is, the bankers, would be permissible. The fact is, that banks must control their distribution of credit.

Remember the good old days? Coupons in the Herald offered customers a 5-pound bag of sugar free at a local supermarket. Other items included paper towels for a dime, five loaves of bread for a dollar, four pounds of apples for 40 cents, a pound of bacon for 84 cents, eggs at 49 cents a dozen, coffee for 58 cents a pound with coupon, and chuck roast at 49 cents a pound.

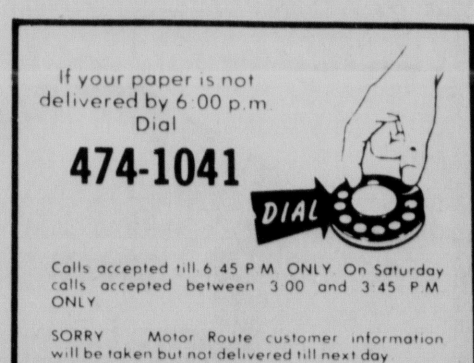

Roundtown Players were ready for their fall production of "Dear Friends," starring Peg Stallings, Diane Berger, Jane Resler, Marsha Moore, Nelson Embry, Jim Stallings, George Ganley, and Tom Matesky.

Rodino Enjoys New Popularity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Peter W. Rodino Jr., who used to be just a face in the political crowd, says he's enjoying the spotlight that was generated by presiding over the House Judiciary Committee impeachment inquiry.

"Face it, I'm a human being," the New Jersey congressman said in an interview. "These plaudits are satisfying."

Rodino, 65 and serving his 13th term as representative of New Jersey's 10th congressional district, vaulted from relative obscurity to national prominence as chairman of the televised committee hearings on the impeachment of Richard M. Nixon.

Now speaking invitations pile up at his Capitol Hill office, Democratic colleagues want him to campaign for them and his name is recognized across the country.

It was not always so. Two years ago, when his name was placed in vice presidential nomination at the Democratic National Convention many delegates had never heard of him. He got 62 votes.

"I never sought the glare of the spotlight," Rodino said. "I never looked forward to any of this. My objective was to contribute something good to the system. I never sought it, but I guess in politics survival depends on letting people know what you have done."

He takes special pride in the fact that "people keep telling me that 'you and your committee restored faith in our system.'"

The committee recommended the impeachment of Nixon, but the former president resigned before the issue went to the House.

"The system is working," Rodino declared. "What better way to celebrate the bicentennial than to point out that the Constitution is a living thing — that we met the test?"

The Italian-American lawmaker from Newark sometimes feels like a fish out of water campaigning for colleagues.

"Jeez, what do I say to a bunch of farmers?" he reportedly inquired of an aide recently before addressing a rural crowd in South Dakota.

This fall, he is to campaign in Indiana, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Iowa, Kansas, Oregon, and New York. The party has asked him to address a meeting of the Democratic National Committee next month.

Before he chaired the impeachment hearings, out-of-town speaking invitations came mostly from ethnic groups, particularly Italian-American organizations.

His new fame has meant personal sacrifices such as giving up family dinner outings on weekends. And it has cut into his paddleball, opera and reading time.

Now the Judiciary Committee is gearing up for hearings on the nomination of Nelson A. Rockefeller to be vice president. And Rodino has to worry about his own political survival.

Like every other House member, he's up for re-election in November.

Deaths Said Suicide Pact

LAKEWOOD, Ohio (AP)—A 69-year-old man apparently killed his wife and then himself Monday in the belief she was incurably ill, police in this Cleveland suburb said.

The couple was found dead in the bedroom, shot in the head, after the wife's brother received a tearful phone call from the husband, saying, "I'm sorry."

The victims were identified by police as Gladys and Irvin Sears of Lakewood.

Mrs. Sears had been troubled by severe headaches and was to be admitted to the hospital. Her doctor, Homer Yoder, said he had found no evidence of serious disease.

The Cuyahoga County coroner ruled the deaths homicide and suicide.

Ohio Prison Land Purchase Waste Claimed

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A state audit concludes the administration of former Gov. James Rhodes wasted more than $1 million in buying land for the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility at Lucasville and that Gov. John Gilligan's administration has handled financial affairs poorly at the prison, The Plain Dealer said today.

The newspaper's Tuesday editions said the charges were contained in a 2½-inch-thick report compiled by four state examiners from July 1, 1972, to March 18, 1974. The report was to be released today.

The auditors reportedly found that the Rhodes administration spent $250,000 for 715 acres in October 1966, weeks before soil tests showed the property too wet to build on.

The state then paid $425,525 for more land and was forced to spend $650,000 to improve that.

The report also states the prison could have been built in London on land Ohio already owned.

A 1961 Department of Public Works document is cited which shows the facility could have been built on "good level farmland" with purchase of 210 acres for $65,000 plus the state land.

Water would have been free at the site, the report states. At Lucasville, the report shows water cost $27,000 in one sevenmonth period.

Investigators still were reported probing the disappearance of tons of meat, spaghetti, flour and macaroni listed as destroyed at the facility because of spoilage. Some auditor department employees were said to believe the food may have been stolen.

Records also reportedly show 771 gallons of gasoline at the prison were unaccounted for.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

In every Congress for the past two decades, a certain numbered bill is introduced by one of the most economy conscious members of the House of Representatives. That member is H. R. Gross of Iowa and the fitting number of that bill is H. R. 144, the count equivalent to "one gross". I mention this play on numbers and words for a very important reason. If that bill had been enacted when it was first introduced we wouldn't be in the dire economic straits we are today.

The premise of this and similar legislation is very simple. It requires that federal expenditures shall not exceed federal revenues, except in time of war or grave national emergency declared by the Congress. More importantly, it also provides for a systematic reduction of the public debt. The first year the bill would go into effect, for example, two per cent of the federal debt would be paid off; the next year, three per cent; the year after that, four per cent and so on until we are out of the red.

Both extended deficit spending and the growing public debt which now nears half a trillion dollars are the prime culprits in our inflated economy. The idea behind this bill is what many economists have been talking about for years. In fact, the Joint Economic Committee of Congress recently issued a report endorsing the need to eliminate deficit spending not just in this year's or next year's budget but for those of many years to come. The Committee also recommended that to do this we must hold the current budget to under $300 billion; however, they didn't offer very many suggestions on just what would have to be cut out of the government expenditures to achieve this goal.

Where and what to cut is the most difficult and most controversial aspect of our whole economic dilemma. Congress appears a little bit more

Miss Bobbin Herkless Bride Of Robert Peters

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT LEE PETERS

The wedding of Miss Bobbin Kay Herkless and Mr. Robert Lee Peters was an event of 6:30 p.m., July 16th, in the Circleville Church of the Nazarene.

The Rev. William Hill officiated the double ring ceremony before the altar decorated with a fan shaped arrangement of white mums flanked with seven-branch candelabra.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Herkless, 1075 Mulberry Road, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. Norman Peters and Mrs. Lucille Peters, Scioto St.

Nuptial selections were presented by Mrs. Eugene H. Dowler, organist and Mr. John Dowler, pianist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and mother. For her wedding she selected a formal length gown of white organza. The bodice featured a sheer chantilly lace yoke with a high ruffled neckline and Dresden lace sleeves with ruffles at the wrists. Her full tiered skirt with sequined chantilly lace encircling each of three flounces extended to a chapel train. The bride's elbow length veil of tiered illusion flowed softly from a cluster of sequin and pearl trimmed lace petals. She wore a gold locket, a gift of the bridegroom and carried a white handkerchief edged with lace which belonged to her great-grandmother. Her bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of white daisies and carnations, red rosebuds and white satin streamers tied in lover's knots.

Miss Becky Herkless was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a floor length gown of green floral crepe and carried a single long stemmed rose. Miss Jo Myers, Miss Kathy Logan and Miss Amy Woods were the bridesmaids. They were gowned identically to the honor attendant and carried single longstemmed roses. The attendants all wore necklaces given to them by the bride.

Miss Amy Ward, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She was in a street length dress of floral print and carried a white wicker basket filled with rose petals. Ring bearer was Master Robert Ward, cousin of the bridegroom.

Mr. Tim Brown performed the duties of best man. Ushers were Mr. Kenneth Rhoads, uncle of the bridegroom and Mr. Michael Swinehart, an uncle of the bride.

Mrs. Herkless was attired in a street length dress of peach and white floral print and a corsage of peach and white carnations.

Mrs. Peters selected a street length dress of white and light blue, and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception in the youth center followed the ceremony. Tables were decorated with candles and greenery. The three tiered wedding cake was topped with a symbol of the cross with interlocking wedding bands and encircled at the base with greenery.

Hostesses were Miss Cindy Bauer, Miss Kandy Koch, Mrs. Cathy Lugenbeel, Mrs. Charles Ward, Miss Nancy Clifton and Mrs. Sheldon Winner. Miss Cindy Peters, sister of the bridegroom presided at the guest book.

The bride is a graduate of Circleville High School. The bridegroom, also a graduate of Circleville High School, is employed by Scioto Coca Cola Bottling Co. The couple now resides at 119½ S. Pickaway St.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Charles Ward, at her home the evening before the wedding.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Columbus, Barberton, Upper Sandusky, Lancaster, Ashville and Centerville.

CHAGALL MOSAIC UNVEILED—People examine mosaic designed by Marc Chagall shortly after it was unveiled in Chicago's First National Plaza. The mosaic, "The Four Seasons," overlooks the First National Bank's plaza and fountain.

Attorney General Ripped By Opponent

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—George Smith, the Republican candidate for attorney general, said Monday incumbent William J. Brown's "inexcusable negligence" in the handling of a nursing homes loan case had cost the state $2 million.

Smith said Brown had lost a chance to sue Four Seasons Nursing Centers for $250,000 interest on state loans when he failed to file "a single sheet of paper," separating Ohio's case from those of a mass of creditors.

"Brown's neglect resulted in a formal settlement agreement effectively denying Ohio all interest income and making Ohio accept a small fraction ($400,000) of the money due the state," Smith said on Monday.

Brown's office conceded Monday the form enabling Ohio to "opt out" of the lumped together settlement had been inadvertently overlooked when the state received a voluminous set of papers announcing the proposed settlement in October of 1972.

However, a spokesman for the attorney general said Smith had oversimplified a complicated situation.

Brown filed a $4 million lawsuit in March of 1972 in an effort to recover the loan principal, interest and damages from Four Seasons, which went into bankruptcy and was subsequently reorganized as ANTA Corp.

The State loans to Four Seasons were made in 1970 and became part of the Statehouse loan scandal that year under the Rhodes administration.

Litigation involving hundreds of creditors against Four Seasons eventually was transferred to Oklahoma City—but not Ohio's case.

However, the federal judge hearing the case in Oklahoma City redefined the class action suit as broad enough to include Ohio.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Ron Brown said the state's lawyers were under the impression the case had been settled "around Ohio" when the decision was announced on Dec. 4, 1972. It had not been.

"They shortcutted steps which normally occur in a class action case," Ron Brown said.

The state asked to be excused from the district court settlement. It was, but the decision later was overturned.

On Monday, Mrs. Bertha McCann was admitted to Mt. Carmel Hospital, State St. At this writing she is undergoing tests and observations.

U.S. Losing Canadian Beef Market Read The Classifieds

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Agriculture Department expert said today that a new import quota system for livestock and meat shipped into Canada threatens to take a $100-million bite from U.S. farm exports.

Robert R. Anlauf of the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said further the quotas could "further aggravate an already difficult marketing situation" between the two countries.

Canada had been tightening import restrictions, particularly for cattle and beef for some time. Then, last April 9, the government flatly banned imports of slaughter cattle and beef unless they were certified as having never been exposed to the synthetic growth hormone, DES.

Canada later announced a new quota system beginning Aug. 12 and said that it would run for a full year. Meantime, a system of DES certification was agreed upon so that U.S. cattle and beef could begin entering Canada again this fall.

Anlauf, writing in a weekly issue of Foreign Agriculture, said the Canadian quotas apply also to other foreign suppliers such as Australia and New Zealand and thus could cause diversions of beef into the United States, the only major market where severe import curbs have not been put into effect.

Last week the American National Cattlemen's Association called for a complete embargo on imports of beef into the United States.

"Until other beef importing nations reopen their borders and absorb some of the world's beef surplus, U.S. cattlemen have no alternative but to insist upon an embargo on beef imports," Gordon Van Vleck, association president, said in Denver.

In his analysis today, Anlauf said Canada apparently wants to roll back U.S. cattle and beef imports to historical levels but fails to take into consideration what has happened lately regarding shifts in Canadian beef grading standards.

Anlauf said a new Canadian beef grading system in October 1972 resulted in a severe decrease in the supply of animals in lower-grade categories. As a result, animals that had previously been mostly in the top grades destined for hotel and restaurant consumption were discounted heavily and graded in lower categories.

"To meet the new requirements, Canadian cattle feeders shortened their feeding period to produce animals with less (fat) marbling and leaner beef," Anlauf said.

But, he said, the hotel and restaurant trade continued to demand the previously higher grades of beef. That helped prompt a large volume of U.S. grain-fed cattle and beef into the Canadian market.

The current quota system permits 82,835 live slaughter cattle from the United States to enter Canada during the year, plus 17.9 million pounds of fresh and frozen dressed beef. By comparison, in calendar 1973 about

Canton McKinley Tops Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Canton McKinley, a two time former state champion, rode a 73-0 walloping of Alliance last week into first place in The Associated Press Ohio high school football poll.

A statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters elevated the 4-0 Bulldogs one spot in the No. 1 position, dropping Upper Arlington, last week's pacesetter, into second place.

However, the margin was only one point, 228-227, and third-place Warren Western Reserve was only six points in arrears.

Form held in the Class AA and Class A polls.

In Class AA, Akron St. Vincent-St. Mary, with four opening triumphs, earned 188 points, 28 ahead of runnerup Warren Kennedy. The two play Saturday night in Warren.

In Class A, Plain City Alder, also 4-0, piled up 208 points to 186 for Bluffton, the new runnerup. Bluffton moved up a notch from third place last week after No. 2 Portsmouth Notre Dame fell to New Boston and tumbled to eighth this time.

There were two newcomers in the Class AAA top ten.

Niles McKinley moved into ninth and Columbus Whitehall took over No. 10. Steubenville, bowing to Warren Harding, dropped from sixth to 19th. Fremont Ross, tied by Lorain King, went from 10th to a tie for 15th.

Warren Western Reserve held onto third place among the large schools with Warren Harding advancing one spot to No. 4. Cincinnati Moeller was fifth, Cincinnati Elder sixth, Lakewood St. Edward seventh and Findlay eighth.

In Class AA, Wheelersburg maintained the third spot, followed by Steubenville Catholic, Minerva, Wellsville, Dayton Jefferson, Columbus Waterson and Jackson, tied for eighth, and Toronto 10th.

Rounding out the Class A top ten were Covington third, McDonald fourth, Canal Winchester fifth, Middletown Fenwick sixth, Newark Catholic seventh, Portsmouth Notre Dame eighth, Kirtland ninth and

Redskins Trample Broncos For 30-3 Win

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bill Kilmer, limping with a pulled calf muscle, tried unsuccessfully to tell everyone that he was only a small part of the Washington Redskins' victory over the Denver Broncos.

"It was a team effort ... the offense, the defense and the special teams," he said. "We didn't make any mistakes and they did. We didn't have any interceptions. We didn't have any fumbles."

Despite his comments, Kilmer threw two touchdown passes to Charlie

Taylor, including one early in the first quarter, to lead the Redskins to a 30-3 victory in the National Football League nationally televised interconference game.

The victory put the Redskins in second place in the NFC Eastern Division with Philadelphia, each with records of 2-1, behind undefeated St. Louis, 3-0. The loss gave Denver a record of 0-2-1, last in the AFC Western Division.

In addition to Kilmer's two touchdown passes to Taylor, Mark Moseley kicked field goals of 37, 22, and 18 yards and Duane Thomas scored a touchdown with 11 seconds remaining in the game to give the Redskins more total points than they have scored in two previous contests this season.

Denver's only score came on a 34-yard field goal by Jim Turner in the third period.

"The Redskins are back," said Washington Coach George Allen. "We're back together as a team. We had the old spirit tonight."

Denver Coach John Ralston said: "Bill Kilmer did an outstanding job. His execution was never better. It was just one of those nights when Kilmer was at his best."

Kilmer had 17 completions in 23 attempts for 223 yards and two touchdowns.

Softball Tourney Set In Lancaster

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Browns Coach Nick Skorich would like to teach his team how to tell time.

He's trying to get across to them that there are 60 minutes in a football game, and it's necessary to participate for the entire four quarters.

"We've played some good football," Skorich said, at his weekly news conference Monday. "Like the first half in Sunday's game and the first half against Cincinnati. But then we make a couple of big mistakes."

"We've got to learn that a game lasts for 60 minutes and we have to play well the entire time."

Skorich was obviously disappointed in the Browns performance Sunday when the St. Louis Cardinals handed them their second defeat of the young National Football League season 29-7.

Three big mistakes were counted this weekend, and they all resulted in touchdowns.

In the second period Norm Thompson intercepted a Mike Phipps pass and went 56 yards for a score.

The first monstrous mishap in the third period was Don Cockroft's low kickoff and two missed tackles on the return, giving Terry Metcalf enough room to run 94 yards with the kickoff return for a score.

And then a Browns secondary man missed an assignment, putting Mel Gray in the open for a 68-yard touchdown pass play from quarterback Jim Hart.

Control Board OKs Transfer

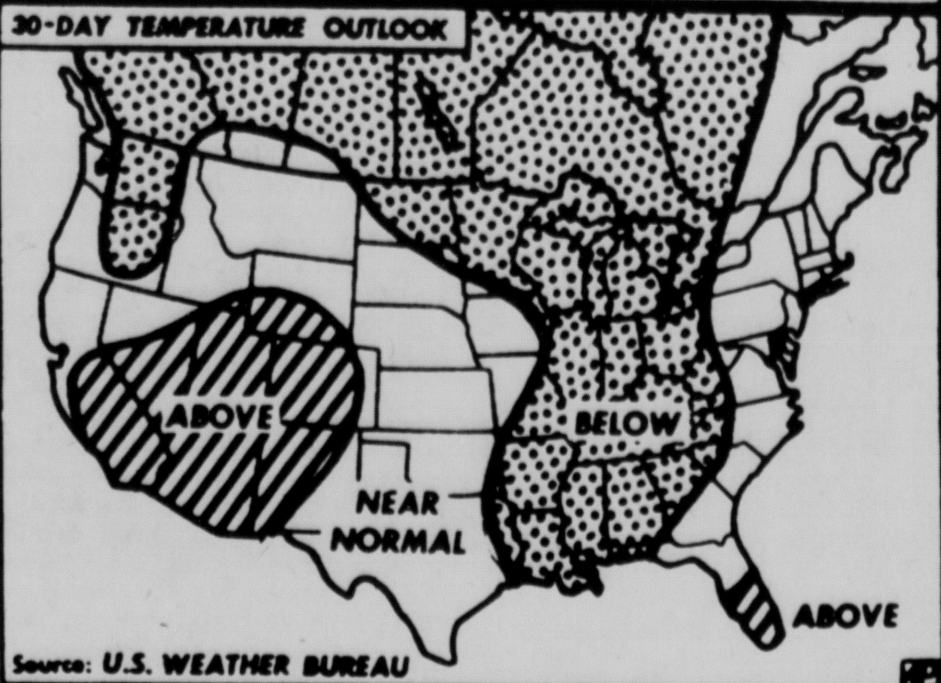

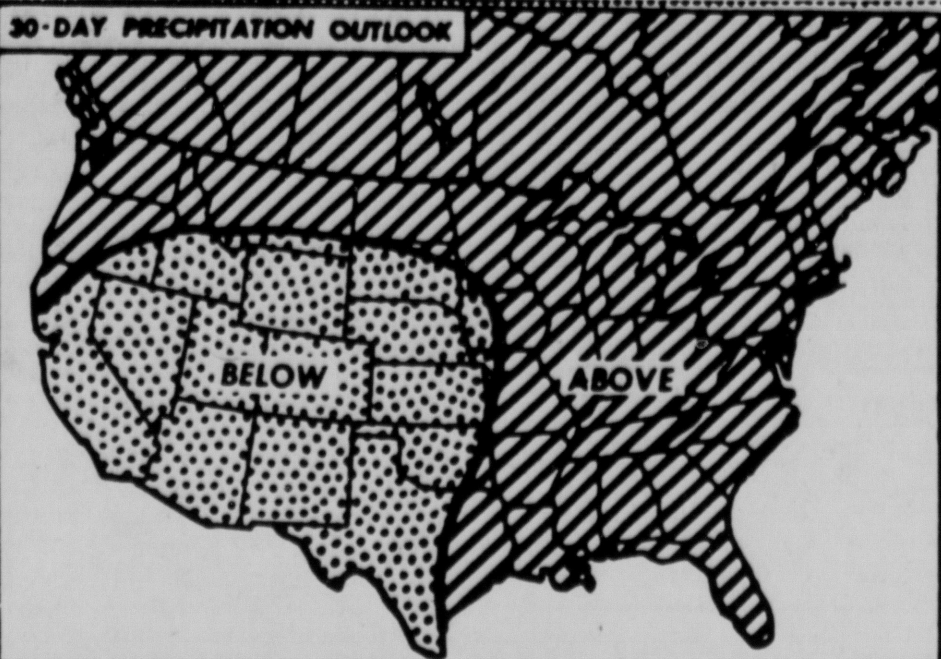

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Controlling Board allowed a transfer of funds Monday within a widespread state agency after it learned how much inflation could cost it the current fiscal year.

The board allowed the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation to move $1.1 million earmarked for 1974 spending to its fiscal 1975 operating budget.

Clem Davis, representing the agency with 29 institutions, said programs wouldn't be curtailed because of $2.2 million federal grant last fiscal year and one for $2.5 in the works this year.

He said, however, that inflation would cost the state $3.7 million more to feed the 8,000 persons in the current fiscal year than it did last, based on current costs and food consumed last year.

Utilities will be up $3.5 million, coal up $3.5 million and there similar jumps, percentage wise in farm supplies and patient labor costs, he said.

WEATHER OUTLOOK—This is the 30-day outlook for precipitation and temperature according to the U.S. Weather Bureau.

Blue Cross Merger Program Started

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Blue Cross of Southwest Ohio has embarked on a program seeking merger with other "healthy" hospital care units in the state, anticipating passage of a national health bill by Congress.

Marvin Walker, president of the Cincinnati-based plan with 1.55 million members, said Blue Cross here anticipates not only that National Health Insurance will be approved but that it will be operated by larger local units.

"What we're doing," said Walker, "is offering the most sophisticated people and computer equipment to take advantage of the lower costs of big business efficiency and the advantage of grass roots handling at the local end."

The Blue Cross unit of Lima, Ohio, encompassing eight counties and 152,000 members, has agreed to merge with the Cincinnati group as of Jan. 1, 1975.

Blue Cross units at Youngstown and Canton, Ohio, currently are negotiating a possible merger with Cincinnati.

Walker said the local plans will retain their own memberships and personnel, with the Cincinnati operation, called Hospital Care Corporation, doing only the processing. Once merger occurs, all participating plans will be represented on the board of directors. Local plans will compute their own rates as in the past.

He said plan members in individual units will not subsidize membership in other plans through rates. Each unit will retain its own funds and rate structure based on costs, Walker said.

Blue Cross of Cincinnati supervises members in 15 counties including Dayton, Ohio.

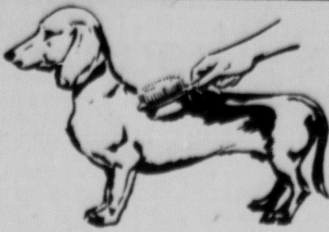

Walker said Lima officials elected to join the larger unit after a test run of their operating procedures was put through the Cincinnati computers.

The Lima plan encompasses Allen, Augalize, Hancock, Hardin, Mercer, Putnam, Shelby and Van Wert.

"This is the first time," said Walker, "that mergers have been sought between healthy plans."

He said Hospital Care Corp. is now second in membership in Ohio only to the Cleveland plan. If Canton and Youngstown elect to join, it will be the eighth largest plan in the United States.

NL East Remains In Tie

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Bruce Kison of Pittsburgh and Bob Forsch of St. Louis, a pair of pitchers who were pretty much overlooked in the preseason analyses, matched three-hitters Monday night to keep the National League East race in a flat-footed tie.

Kison rode pinch-hitter Richie Zisk's tie-breaking seventh-inning triple to a 2-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs, while Ted Simmons' three-run homer in the first inning provided more than enough of a margin as Forsch pitched the Cardinals to a 5-1 victory over the Montreal Expos.

Meanwhile, in the NL West, the Houston Astros prevented Los Angeles from clinching the title by beating the Dodgers 4-1. Los Angeles now leads secondplace Cincinnati by two games, with two to play. In the only other National League game, the New York Mets beat the Philadelphia Phillies 5-2.

Kison had a shaky first inning, allowing two singles, a hit batsman and a bases-loaded walk to force in a run, but then settled down.

Kison, 9-8, allowed just one single and a walk the rest of the way — by far his strongest game of the season and his first complete game since 1972.

Pittsburgh and St. Louis each have two games remaining. The Pirates play host to the Cubs while the Cards are at Montreal.

Zisk, batting for shortstop Frank Taveras, clouted his game-winning triple in the seventh to score Manny Sanguillen, who had singled and taken second on a wild pitch.

Capobianco To San Diego

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Tito Capobianco, opera producer and director, has been named artistic director elect of the San Diego Opera, effective this season. He will become artistic director upon Walter Herbert's retirement after the 1976-77 season.

Capobianco has conceived and directed many new productions for Beverly Hills at the New York City Opera, including "Julius Caesar," "Tales of Hoffmann," "Maria Stuarda" and "Roberto Devereux." He recently created a new "Norma" production for Joan Sutherland at the San Francisco Opera. He did "Mefistofele" last September with Norman Treigle in the title role in San Diego.

Capobianco resides with his wife and their two children in the Canary Islands and will move to San Diego in 1976.

Herbert has been founding general director and conductor of the San Diego Opera since its first production in 1965. Highlights of next season will be a "Lucia di Lammermoor" with Joan Sutherland and a new "Manon" with Carol Neblett.

The highest price ever paid for a bottle of wine of any size is 55,000 francs (about $13,200) in Paris for a jeroboam of Chateau Mouton Rothschild 1870 at an auction in 1972.

John Glenn's Daughter Hits Campaign Trail

By SUE BOYER
Herald Staff Writer

Lyn Glenn Power, the daughter of U.S. Senate candidate John Glenn, passed through Circleville Monday on her campaign trail. Mrs. Power, quite familiar with her father's campaign issues, gave a rundown of the major standings. She said she does encourage all voters to write all the candidates to become more familiar with each issue before making the final decision at the polls.

Although Glenn is not for wage and price controls as yet, he does feel that inflation should be placed toward the top of the list of priorities. He recently released a seven-point approach which included measures for controlling deficit governmental spending and scrutinizing the policies of the Federal Reserve Board.

Another issue in Glenn's seven-point approach to the inflation problem is tax reform. His daughter explains that an estimated 78.2 billion dollars will be lost this year alone in tax loopholes which ultimately only benefit the rich. She maintains that the minimum tax law has never been adequate to combat the problem but enforcement of anti-trust laws could be the answer.

Food and energy products account for 60 per cent of the exorbitant rise in the cost of living. The Glenn campaign favors a target price increase for the farmer who, despite the sharp rise in the agricultural products, still falls short. The greater part of the food dollar does not benefit the farmer but the middle man.

Mrs. Power cited the rise in the energy products as one of the major factors contributing to the rise in the middle man's profit. The rise in the cost of gasoline for the transportation of the food product and then the rise in the cost of the processing of that product has allowed the man between the farmer and the consumer to up his prices.

As part of her campaign for her father, Lyn has studied a booklet on each of the counties she visits. Well informed on the industry and agricultural status of our county, she reflected that Pickaway County ranks ninth in the state in total agricultural products, second in the production of cattle and calves and eighth in the production of hogs. She also said Pickaway County had ample supplies of all professions and as far as she knew, it was the only county that did not lack some professional men.

Glenn's campaign focused next on the energy problem. His solution to the problem is a national energy policy.

Another important political question on which Glenn has issued a position is national health care. He emphasizes a preventative health care program with set prices for everyone.

Glenn's daughter closed her campaign with what she called the foremost issue, the choice of the candidate. She said that she and her father had never assumed he was running well for the Senate but continued to work as hard as ever. She encourages voters to become well-informed about all the political candidates and be knowledgeable about their respective issues and responses.

She emphasized the importance of the quality of leadership in the high governmental positions and said that only through well-informed voters can the caliber of the leadership be improved.

Neither Glenn nor his daughter believe he won the nomination over Metzenbaum because of his name but because the voters had become informed. The foremost points on a list of why he won the nomination were cited as understanding on the part of the voters. The tax issue and his standing on it ranked toward the bottom of the list.

John Glenn was born in Cambridge and is married to Anna Margaret Castor Glenn. He spent 23 years in the United States Marines and retired from the service in 1964 at which time he began campaigning for the Senate. Because of a fall which caused injuries, he withdrew from the race in 1964 and ran again and lost to Metzenbaum in 1970.

The Senatorial candidate holds a bachelor of science degree from Muskingum College but is best known for his career as a NASA astronaut.

Lyn Glenn Power is the youngest of the Glenns' two children. A son, David is a medical student at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland. Lyn is married to Mike Power, a systems analyst in Washington, D. C. She worked as a researcher for two years before retiring to devote her time to her father's political campaign. After the campaign is over, she plans to either go on to law school or to teach retarded children.

Lyn's husband works for the Federal Energy Administration in the field of conservation. He worked for three years under Dr. Henry Kissinger.

Circleville Girl Joins Players Club

BECKY SOWERS

Becky Sowers, daughter of George and B.J. Sowers, 125 S. Pickaway St., has been selected to join the new Youth Performing Company of Players Club Theatre in Columbus.

The company, limited to 25 students, ages 13 through 18, chooses each member by auditions for ability, interest and seriousness of intent from the Franklin County area.

The group will meet in one formal class per week and be totally responsible for the production of two plays specifically for young audiences.

The two productions for this new company will include, "Aesop's Fables", the first rock musical written specifically for young people and one of the most popular youth plays in the country today. The musical adds a modern, new twist to the old "tired and true" fables of Aesop, with music, guaranteed to delight young and old alike.

"Runaway", a new-fangled musical play of a modern Tom Sawyer's search for a place of importance and the obstacles of life that get in his way. It proves to be an enchanting journey for the entire family to enjoy together.

The Youth Club is under the direction of Ed Graczyk, resident director of Players Club Theatre. Graczyk has had much experience and success in the field of youth productions and has received many National and International Awards in this dimension of theatre.

Ms. Sowers is a sophomore at Circleville High School and is active in the SOS Club, Latin Club and the Tiger Marching Band.

She also won the best ballet dancer award in the International Talent Pageant at Wooster College in July, 1973.

A dancing student, for seven years, of Betty Sherick, Ms. Sowers has appeared in productions of Roundtown Players and just recently was a featured dancer in "Can Can" for the Chillicothe Civic Theatre.

Witnesses Get New District Overseer

Jehovah's Witnesses in the Circleville area will be introduced to their new district supervisor at the coming Circuit Assembly beginning Saturday.

The assembly will be at the London Assembly Hall. The new district supervisor is John W. Stuefloten, who has been in the full time ministry since 1939. He will be giving the public address, "What the Near Future Holds."

Gans Named Chairman Of Bank Group

Frank A. Gans, president of The First National Bank of Circleville was recently elected chairman of Group Four of the Ohio Bankers Association (OBA) during the Group's annual meeting held at the Elks Country Club, Portsmouth.

As chairman, Gans will preside over a trade organization that includes in its membership all commercial banks in Adams, Brown, Clinton, Fayette, Gallia, Jackson, Lawrence, Highland, Pickaway, Pike, Ross, Scioto and Vinton counties.

The Group is one of nine that comprise the OBA, headquartered in Columbus. By virtue of his new position, Gans will sit on the OBA Council of Administration, governing body of the trade association that represents all of Ohio's 499 commercial banks and their 2049 banking offices.

Gans, a native of Point Marion, Pa., began his full time banking career in 1948 with the City National Bank of Columbus. In 1951 he moved to The Buckeye State Bank, Galion, as assistant cashier and was promoted to cashier in 1951.

He then held successive positions as vice president of the First National Bank of Cambridge, and the First National Bank of Sebring, before coming to Circleville in 1967 as president of First National.

Active in community affairs, Gans is a past president of the Circleville Chamber of Commerce and past chairman of the Cambridge United Appeal. He has also served for three years as trustee of the First Presbyterian Church of Circleville.

Voter Registration Deadline Oct. 7

The Pickaway County Board of Elections, located in the courthouse basement, will observe longer hours this weekend for registration of new voters.

Extended hours for voters are: 9 a.m. to noon, Saturday and 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday, according to Nancy Ayers, Director, County Board of Elections.

Voters are also reminded of the new laws concerning voter eligibility and absent balloting.

Polls, beginning with the November 1974 election, will remain open until 7:30 p.m., voting day.

Pertaining to primary elections, 17-year-olds may vote in the primary election, if they will be 18-year-old by the time of the November general elections. They are eligible to vote for candidates only and not for issues.

The application form for absentee balloting does not now need to be in any specific form. If the voter does not appear personally at the board of elections, he may write the board a letter and request absent voter ballots. The letter must include five items.

1. The name by which the voter is registered and his voting residence.
2. The election for which ballots are requested.
3. If it is a primary election, which party.
4. The reason for the person's absence from the polls on election day.
5. The mailing address to which the ballots are to be mailed.

Application for absent voter ballots may be made by civilians until noon Nov. 2 and Armed service ballots may be applied for up to 7:30 p.m. Nov. 5. Persons 62-years-old or over may vote an absent voter ballot. Disabled persons may vote absentee without a doctor's certificate of their disability.

The requirements for notarization have been eliminated. A statement under penalty of election falsification is made similar to the statement a taxpayer signs on his tax return.

Notarization has also been eliminated for registrations, making it easier for the disabled and those who register by mail.

Married women will be permitted to vote under their maiden name if they married within a period of 60 days prior to the election at which they vote. This also went into effect Sept. 27.

The usual rules of residence are applicable, requiring notification of change of address to the board of elections or possible re-registration.

HITTING THE CAMPAIGN TRAIL—Lyn Glenn Power, the pert young daughter of John Glenn, visited Circleville Monday to campaign for her father. Glenn is a U.S. Senatorial candidate running against Cleveland's Mayor Ralph Perk. Although the political polls have rated Glenn the favored candidate, both he and his daughter refrain from taking the campaign for granted. Glenn says he would prefer to run as an underdog no matter what the polls say.

Health Contract Has $30,000 Price Tag

By DAVE AMEY
Herald Staff Writer

The ball (known as contractual health care for the city of Circleville) changed hands again Monday night as it headed back to city council for discussion, and a final decision.

Members of the County and City Boards of Health met in informal session Monday to discuss terms of the proposed contract that will, if adopted, be of benefit to both the city and county.

Price tag put on the contract by the County was $30,000 a year.

If accepted, citizens of Circleville will receive the same services offered to county residents by the County Health Department. The City Health Department and Board of Health would be dissolved.

Under the proposed operation, the types of programs offered by the County are expected to be more efficient and thorough and there is a possibility of additional services.

Budget of the County Health Department, currently at $71,900 a year, would be increased to approximately $101,850 if the city contracts for health services.

The rough budget, drawn up by Leo Kahanek and the Board of Health, calls for yearly expenses of $68,450 for salaries, $4,700 for supplies, $750 for equipment, $450 for contract-repair, $9,000 for travel expenses, $7,500 for PERS, $3,500 for workmen's compensation, and $2,500 for other expenses.

Additional personnel to make the contractual arrangement effective would need to be hired, but the number and specialties of that personnel could not be determined until the plan was put into operation. It was felt that a full-time health nurse would be required.

If the contract becomes official, the County Board requested an option to lease equipment presently being used by City Health personnel to save on expenses. Items mentioned included two desks, two chairs, two lamps, a typewriter, and a records cabinet. Personnel presently employed by the city would be considered for county work when vacancies arise.

The County Board would like to work under the contract for a two-year period, with negotiations for a new contract starting after the first year. They would also like an ex-officio liaison person appointed by the City Board to sit in at all meetings and discuss problems in the city.

Fees currently collected by the city for issuance of permits would be collected by the county and deducted from the city's cost.

The biggest stumbling block "kicked-around" Monday was the method of payment for the services.

The method, which must be approved by Circleville council, is strictly a bookkeeping matter that will require legal assistance to establish.

Members of the County Board were under the impression that a six-month pre-payment would have to be made by the city if the proposed contract takes effect.

Funds for the operation of the County Health Department are collected from each township, and board members didn't want to extract the added expenses of the city operation from the township trustee treasury.

However, according to Mayor Frank Barnhill, the city couldn't pay such a huge sum of money in one payment.

It was decided, if it can be accomplished legally, to fund the city's contract monthly, or perhaps quarterly.

City council is not expected to discuss the proposal tonight in their regular meeting, although the Board of Health wanted an answer by its next meeting, Oct. 29.

The city should have an answer no later than Nov. 19, according to Mayor Barnhill. That would allow for a maximum three readings of the proposal.

The threatened suspension of William Barthelmas' landfill operator's license was lifted by the Board of Health Monday night after daily inspections of the site by health department personnel revealed that Barthelmas was working to conform the operation to state specifications.

Major problems have been or are in the process of being corrected, the board said.

One of the primary complaints, exposed garbage and rubbish, has been covered and landfill workers are constructing a trench to bury each day's collection.

The board cited Barthelmas for striving to maintain standards at the landfill, but said they will watch the operation closely, with possible daily inspections to insure that standards are maintained.

Barthelmas has been threatened with suspension of his license several times in the past, but in each case conformed his operation to the orders of the health department.

The landfill is located on Route 104, south of Route 22, and is the only licensed solid waste disposal operation in Pickaway County.

Family Grocery Bill Rises Again During September

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The family grocery bill followed an all-too-familiar upward pattern during September, an Associated Press marketbasket survey showed, although there were a few bargains at the meat counter.

The cost of eggs, laundry detergent, cookies and sugar generally went up last month, while the price of pork chops and chopped chuck went down.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the prices on March 1, 1973, at a supermarket in each of 13 cities and rechecked at the beginning of succeeding months.

The latest check showed that during September the bill for the 15 items went up in 11 cities and down in two — Seattle, Wash., and Salt Lake City, Utah. On the average, the bill at the start of October was 2.3 per cent higher than it was at the beginning of September and 12 per cent more than at the start of the year.

The latest price boosts in the AP survey generally reflected higher farm prices caused by drought and bad weather in the Midwest. There is some hope for the future, however.

The Agriculture Department said Monday that prices paid to farmers dropped 2 per cent from Aug. 15 to Sept. 15, the first decline since last spring. The lower farm prices could mean lower supermarket prices in a couple of months — if retailers pass along the savings.

Administration officials have said that food prices will continue to rise in 1975, although at a slower pace than in 1974. The 1974 boost in food prices is expected to be between 15 and 17 per cent, officials say.

The latest AP survey showed that the price of a dozen, medium white eggs went up during September in 12 of 13 cities checked. Eggs were not available at the 13th supermarket. Despite the increases, however, eggs remained cheaper than they were at the start of the year, averaging 13 per cent less than they did at the beginning of January.

Detergent, which remained fairly stable in price earlier, started rising during September, due to higher manufacturing costs caused by increases in prices charged for raw materials.

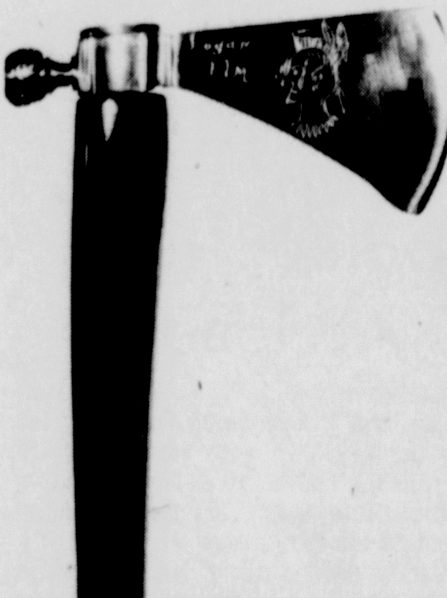

The price of laundry detergent went up in nine cities during September, rising an average of 8 per cent. The price went down in one city and was unchanged in three.

Center cut pork chops went down in seven cities, with the declines ranging up to 30 per cent in Seattle where the price dropped from $1.69 a pound to $1.19. Chopped chuck was down in six cities.

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, chocolate chip cookies, milk, all-beef frankfurters and granulated sugar.

The cities checked were: Albuquerque, N.M., Atlanta, Ga., Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, Salt Lake City and Seattle.

Logan Elm Event Is Saturday

TOMAHAWK—This peace pipe tomahawk, handcrafted by Robert Ely, 1117 McGraw Road, will be presented to the Pickaway County Historical Society Saturday during the Logan Elm Bicentennial ceremonies scheduled to begin 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

Pickaway County's observation of the American Revolution Bicentennial begins this weekend.

Chief Logan Bicentennial ceremonies will be held at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at Logan Elm State Park. Acting Director Charles C. Pratt of the Ohio Historical Society will talk about the nationwide Bicentennial program and the specific events of interest that occurred on the Pickaway Plains in 1774. Most historians hail these pre-revolutionary events as vitally important in the eventual success of the American Revolution.

Reed Masse, landscape architect of the OHS, will dedicate a plaque to be placed on the site of the famed Logan Elm. In co-operation with Cole Nursery a blight resistant elm tree will be planted.

Robert Ely of Circleville, an outstanding artisan, will present the Pickaway County Historical Society with a peace pipe tomahawk he has handcrafted. The blade is similar to those used by the Indians of the Pickaway Plains. The handle of this tomahawk was fashioned by Mr. Ely from an authentic piece of the famed Logan Elm.

Rev. David Allardice of the Episcopal Church will give the invocation. The Logan Elm band will provide music for the event and Boen Hallum will read Chief Logan's famed speech.

This celebration is part of the Pickaway County Historical Society's Bicentennial Activities.

Gilligan Meets With Builders On Housing Act

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. John J. Gilligan is meeting today with Ohio businessmen and builders to discuss the new federal housing act and its anticipated effect on the state's building industry.

Gilligan invited 23 industry leaders to the one-day Statehouse conference to "begin formulating reasonable solutions to the building industry's current crisis."

A major topic on the agenda will be the federal Housing and Community Development Act and its impact on pending state legislation for a state housing finance agency. Gilligan said the finance agency could use the new law "to bring federal dollars to Ohio to build housing."

Watergate Trial Jury Selection Is Under Way

WASHINGTON (AP)—Once-mighty officials of the Nixon administration went on trial today on charges they tried to block the investigation of the June 1972 Watergate break-in.

At 9:29 a.m. by the courtroom clock, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica entered the courtroom to preside in the case of "The United States versus John Mitchell, et al."

Most of the seats in the courtroom were taken by a panel of 170 prospective jurors. Sirica told them he would begin by asking general questions to weed out any obviously unqualified and then question the remainder in private.

Twelve jurors and six alternates will be chosen. Sirica has said he hopes to complete the trial before Christmas.

The five defendants include former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and ex-White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman.

The defense and prosecution have subpoenaed former President Nixon as a witness.

Neither Nixon nor his lawyer,

Herbert J. Miller, has made any public response to the subpoenas. Monday, however, Dr. John C. Lungren, the ailing former President's physician, said he believes it would be "at least a month, maybe three months," before Nixon could travel from California to Washington.

Nixon entered Memorial Hospital Center of Long Beach, Calif., a week ago suffering from a recurrence of the phlebitis that troubled him during his last year in office. After he entered the hospital, doctors disclosed that a small blood clot had moved from Nixon's left leg to his right lung.

While still president, Nixon was named an indicted coconspirator in the case. President Ford subsequently granted him a pardon for any federal offenses committed while Nixon was in office.

The defendants sought unsuccessfully to delay the trial until next year on the grounds the unprecedented publicity generated by Watergate, including the resignation and pardon of Nixon, would make it impossible to find unbiased jurors.

Defendants along with Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman are former Assistant Atty. Gen. Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson, one-time attorney for Nixon's reelection committee.

Sirica granted a prosecution motion Monday to hold a separate trial for former White House aide Gordon C. Strachan. However, Sirica refused to dismiss the charges against Strachan, who claimed the case against him was based on testimony he gave under what he thought was an agreement it wouldn't be used against him.

Later in the day, he rejected Mardian's request for a separate trial.

Charges against a seventh defendant, former White House special counsel Charles W. Colson, were dismissed after he pleaded guilty in a separate case.

All five defendants are charged with one count each of conspiracy to obstruct justice. All but Mardian also are charged with one count each of obstruction of justice.

In addition, Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman are charged with lying to authorities investigating the break-in and cover-up.

The indictment, returned by a federal grand jury last March 1, alleged that all five defendants conspired to thwart the investigation of the break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters in order to hide the identities of the administration and Nixon campaign officials who planned and knew about it.

Standard Time Returns On Oct. 27

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has given more weight to public convenience than the energy shortage by voting to restore standard time in the nation this winter.

Senate passage without debate or dissent Monday sent the bill to President Ford, who is expected to sign it.

As a result, virtually all Americans will set their clocks back one hour Oct. 27, ending 10 straight months of daylight saving time. The only exceptions will be residents of eastern Indiana, Hawaii, Arizona, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Samoa, who observe standard time 12 months a year.

Next Feb. 23, clocks will be set forward an hour. Then, unless Congress intervenes again, the regular pattern of daylight time six months a year would be resumed in October 1975.

Year-round daylight time was approved by Congress last December as an energy-conservative measure, and became effective Jan. 6 for a 22-month period.

The Senate Commerce Committee, in recommending a return to standard time during November, December, January and February, reported the equivalent of 100,000 barrels of oil per day was saved during the first four months of 1974 because of daylight time.

But such savings "must be balanced against a majority of the public's distaste for the observance of daylight saving time" during the winter, the committee said.

Doctors Believe Mrs. Ford Has Chance At Longer Life

WASHINGTON (AP)—First Lady Betty Ford's doctors say they remain optimistic for her "prolonged survival" despite discovery of some cancer cells in lymph gland tissue removed during breast cancer surgery.

And the President said he certainly shares that optimism, although he said the pathology report raises some questions. Statistics indicate that finding of cancer cells in lymph nodes in such cases usually diminishes chances for a long-term cure.

Paying a visit to his wife Monday night after the final pathology report was issued, the President said he had "full faith in the doctors — I think they're the experts and we'll follow their advice."

He noted a great improvement in his wife's condition and described her as "much, much better."

"With her strong, fine attitude," the President said of his wife, "I think everything will work out all right."

Mrs. Ford's doctors, Navy Capt.

William Fouhy, who performed the surgery, and White House physician William Lukash, said the final pathology report, an examination of tissues removed in the operation, showed:

"Microscopic involvement of cancer in only 2 out of 30 lymph nodes. There was no involvement in local blood vessels."

"Considering that only two lymph nodes were involved and that there is no clinical evidence of cancer spread to other areas," they said they "remain optimistic for a prolonged survival."

After the three-hour surgery Saturday on Mrs. Ford, Fouhy, chairman of surgery at the Bethesda Naval Medical Center, was asked if discovery of some malignancy in lymphatic tissue would be an ominous sign.

He said, "This would not be particularly an ominous sign. It would not be particularly a bad sign. People do respond to further therapy. There would be no more surgical procedures done because all of this tissue would be removed."

And, now that they have the findings in hand, the doctors said that the next step in Mrs. Ford's case will be to make special diagnostic studies to decide whether x-ray, hormonal or chemotherapy should be used "to insure maximum treatment of this cancer."

Weather

Partly cloudy and cold today with frost and freeze warnings for today and tonight. High today, mid 50s. Low tonight, low 30s. Mostly sunny and cold Wednesday, high, mid 50s. LEGISLATIVE RECOGNITION—Representative Myrl H. Shoemaker of Bourneville accepts a Legislative Recognition Award Plaque given him by the Buckeye State Sheriffs' Association from Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, first vice-president of the organization. The award is made to legislators whose efforts in behalf of law enforcement during the 110th General Assembly were of the highest magnitude. Recipients of this year's awards were either sponsors of key bills or those who worked for the passage of key law enforcement legislation. President John Borgia said that it was the desire of the Buckeye State Sheriffs' Association to make such awards an annual event in order to show the appreciation of Ohio's Sheriffs and Deputies to the lawmakers who exhibit concern for the needs of Ohio's Sheriffs' Departments and law enforcement in general. Borgia indicated key bills those honored supported dealt with fee bills, drug legislation, liability insurance, minimum salary for deputies, and pension reform.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market posted another broad decline today, but cut its losses with a late-morning technical upswing.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, off close to 13 points at its worst, showed an 8.76 decline at 599.11 at noon. Losers held a 2-to-1 edge on gainers at the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said investors remained unhappy and concerned over the possible broad implications of inflation and the world oil situation for the economies of the United States and other nations. They noted that the slight recovery just before noon apparently reflected a technical response to the Dow's slide below 600.

American Telephone & Telegraph was the Big Board's most-active stock, down 1 at 40. A 204,600-share block of the issue traded at that price.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down .33 at 62.52.

The NYSE's noon composite index of all its listed common stocks was down .34 to 33.11.

Syntex was the Amex volume leader, off 1 1/2 at 28 3/4.

Sheriff Re-Stresses Crime Prevention

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight E. Radcliff re-emphasized the need for every citizen to take a more active role in crime prevention. He stated that with FBI figures showing an overall 15 per cent increase in crime throughout the nation, it is obvious the police cannot alone cope with the problem.

He quoted Ferris E. Lucas, Executive Director of the National Sheriffs' Association, as saying that much crime is victim-assisted. He asked: "How many times have each of us been guilty of leaving an unattended car or truck unlocked, or not checking to make sure all doors and windows are secured before leaving our home or business?"

Radcliff continued saying that with children now back in school, many Mothers who work during the school year, there are fewer persons in any neighborhood who might notice a thief or burglar at work. This increases the possibility of successful daytime intrusions, and, coupled with the longer hours of darkness, intensifies the problem of preventing or controlling crime.

He described a program being conducted locally which is designed to decrease criminal opportunity by increasing citizen awareness and involvement. This is the National Neighborhood Watch project, being conducted through his office. Radcliff stressed that the program is of little value without the support and participation by responsible citizens.

The Sheriff said that at the present time he has an adequate supply of materials to alert the citizen to some simple steps to protect their property. All of the project material is free and may be acquired for the asking.

An information kit may be obtained by writing Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, 121 W. Franklin St., Circleville, 43113; or phone the Community Relations Unit at 474-3018.

Radcliff notes that opportunity plus desire equals crime. By availing yourself of the free material available, citizens can do a lot to decrease the opportunity for crimes to be committed in your neighborhood.

If you help him, help you, crime in Pickaway County can be decreased.

Police Find Drugs; Coin Box Damage

Circleville Policeman Ron Smith had a busy morning Tuesday, discovering hallucinogens in a car and finding damage to a coin box at a local service station.

Ptl. Smith watched a car drive from the Union 76 station at the intersection of Lancaster Pike and Nicholas Dr. to the Kroger parking lot 1:14 a.m. this morning and stopped the vehicle at Diltz Cigo after it circled the super-market parking lot.

Ptl. Smith and Sgt. Larry Pontious obtained the identification of the five occupants of the vehicle and were given permission to search it.

They discovered a plastic bag under the driver's seat that contained a suspected hallucinogen.

Driver of the car, Keith B. Lee, 18, Columbus, was charged with possession.

At 3:46 a.m., Ptl. Smith discovered that thieves removed the coin box from a soft drink machine at Roy's Arco Station, Route 1.

The machine, which was pryed open, sustained about $30 damage.

The thieves also attempted to pry open the door of the station.

Panel Eyes School Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A temporary legislative commission is scheduled to meet today to hear proposals for changing the complicated way in which the state funnels money to Ohio public schools.

The Education and Administration Review Commission has learned in previous meetings why the school foundation formula is not providing an equal flow of dollars to elementary and secondary schools.

Today a team of Syracuse researchers will present alternatives to the deductible millage formula — a sliding scale providing state funds based on a school district's property tax valuation.

The consultants from the Syracuse University Research Corp. also are expected to discuss a complete changeover in the foundation program to an equal yield plan, guaranteeing school districts a minimum level of state dollars for each mill of locally determined tax rate.

B. P. O. Elks No. 77 will hold an initiation of new candidates Tuesday, Oct. 1 at 8:00 p.m. Refreshments will follow the meeting. All Elks invited. —ad.

'Findings For Recovery' Rise

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Every so often—3,875 times in the last three years—the state auditor issues what is called a "finding for recovery."

That means he found a shortage of funds in a public official's account.

"Down in the hills they would call it stealing," said O. F. Knippenburg, an aide to Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, a product of those Ohio hills himself.

Those findings for recovery have been issued by Ferguson's office since 1971, and the 3,875 total doesn't represent a high percentage of pilfering, Knippenburg said.

"That figure represents close to 9,000 audits," he said, "so percentage-wise it isn't that high."

Although the findings total figures out at 43 per cent of the total audits, the actual percentage is about 8 per cent because there may be many separate findings within a single audit.

The total findings over the last three years involved recovery of a total of about $3.7 million, broken down this way: Counties and townships 825 findings, for $1 million; cities and villages 1,462 findings for $2 million; schools 1,512 findings for $512,825; libraries 60 findings for $8,068; state five findings for $64,366, and universities 11 findings for $53,509.

The state auditor finds the shortages, but he doesn't collect them. That's up to a city solicitor, a county prosecutor or, in the case of shortages in state accounts, to the attorney general.

Often the shortage is returned before the audit is completed, Knippenburg said. In those cases, it is noted that repayment has been made.

The local prosecutor can decide whether to make a settlement or press criminal charges against the person involved.

The state always gets its money because public officials handling funds have to post bonds.

"The bonding companies pay the public fund where the shortage occurred," said Knippenburg, "but naturally they want their money back. Then they go after him."

If a local prosecutor takes no action, the auditor's office has up to 90 days to turn the issue over to the Ohio attorney general.

When a state official is involved the auditor is required to give the information it has collected to the attorney general.

In cases where money has been spent out of the wrong fund, the auditor will report the expenditures were illegal but make no finding for recovery unless there was criminal intent.

"When it's an illegal expenditure, but entered into by both parties in good faith and the service contracted for was performed, we won't issue such a finding," said Knippenburg. "We'll point out, though, that it was contrary to the statutes."

Citizens Group Head Fined For Assault

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The head of a local citizens' group has been fined $230 for punching a Cincinnati Board of Education member during a heated board meeting last July.

Irwin Frieman, executive secretary of the Hamilton County League of Property and Homeowners Association, was fined Monday for assault and battery.

He allegedly struck board member Robert Brown.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Definitely Doubts "DAT"

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem I sure hope you can help me with, as everyone I've told this to just laughs at me.

I know I read an article in the Orlando Sentinel Star stating that someone actually mated a dog with a cat, and the offspring was called a "DAT". (Half dog and half cat.)

I read that it looked like a dog, but had fur instead of hair. I'm sure they even ran a picture of it. Now I could kick myself for not cutting out the article and keeping it as proof.

I even went to the newspaper and asked for a back copy, but because I couldn't tell them the exact date, they couldn't help me.

That paper runs your column so maybe if you ask them they will try to find it.

PINKY II

DEAR PINKY: If such a piece ever did appear in the Orlando Sentinel, it was either a spoof or a goof. A "DAT?" DAT'S an impossibility!

Sohio Cuts Gasoline By Penny

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Gas cost a penny less at Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) stations this morning, but Sohio said the price rollback had nothing to do with a government charge last week that the firm was guilty of $10 million in overcharges in the last two years.

The reduction was announced by marketing vice president Robert G. Griffin, who said the price cutback reflected a drop in crude oil costs.

Federal Energy Office regulations require the firm to allow customers to benefit from lower crude oil costs just as they permit prices to be raised once a month to pass through higher costs.

"A decline in Sohio's average per-barrel cost for crude oil has now allowed Sohio to cut prices back a total of five cents per gallon on gasoline since May, which was the high point in the federal government's program to pass through crude oil costs on a monthly basis," Griffin said.

The new pump prices were to be 52.8 cents a gallon for regular and lead-free gasoline and 56.8 cents for premium, he said.

Dealer stations also were required to pass the saving along to the customer, Sohio said.

The prices to dealers were to be 45.5 cents a gallon for regular and lead-free and 49 cents for premium, Griffin said. The prices included 11 cents in state and federal taxes.

Griffin added that gasoline is in good supply and should stay in good supply this winter, barring an unforeseen disruption of market patterns.

Hamilton County Embezzlement Eyed

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A Hamilton County auditor's aide has been suspended and an investigation launched in the disappearance of approximately $10,000 from payroll funds, The Cincinnati Enquirer reported today.

The newspaper said Auditor Joseph L. DeCourcy has suspended Charles F. Hunninghake Jr., 38, supervisor of the department's payroll division.

Hunninghake, promoted to the job in February, 1973, after 11 years with the county, was convicted in 1962 of embezzlement and making false entries in bank records while working for a Cincinnati bank, The Enquirer said.

DEAR ABBY: Grandma thinks she was "done wrong" by her son and daughter-in-law because they asked her to babysit for them while they took a course in landscaping, when they really took a series of dancing lessons. (They knew Grandma wouldn't babysit if they told her the truth.)

Well, tell her she's lucky. My daughter got us to take her child for five months. She told us she was trying to get her life straightened out, and was working overtime to earn money to fix up her house so she and the baby could have a nicer place to live.

We knocked ourselves out looking after the boy. It cost us a bundle to fly up to get him, also for babysitters (I work part-time), not to mention loss of income for clients I had to turn away.

Now we find out that our daughter had taken up with a man who didn't want the child around. Three weeks after the baby went back with her she phoned and asked if we wanted to adopt him because she was going to give him up and marry the man she'd been living with.

It's one thing to have kids who are liars. Some are bigger liars than others.

DEAR GRANDMA: Yours not only flew the coop, she used you to feather her love nest.

DEAR ABBY: You had a letter in your column from a handicapped person who resented seeing perfectly able-bodied drivers zip into parking spaces marked "Reserved for the Handicapped," then walk a few steps to the store or building.

The writer complained that he often hobbled on crutches a long way to his destination while some inconsiderate, selfish clod took the parking place reserved for the handicapped.

Abby, one need not be crippled to be handicapped. Many disabilities are not visible.

A heart patient, or one with severely reduced lung power may be more seriously handicapped than someone on crutches.

You should have said, "Before calling people 'inconsiderate selfish clods' for having grabbed your parking space, consider that many who appear to be able-bodied and healthy may be in far worse physical condition than you are."

ASTHMATIC'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Thank you for pointing out something that never occurred to me. You are far more insightful than I.

DEAR ABBY: I didn't know how to address letters to my daughter who lives with her boyfriend out of town, so I asked my psychiatrist who has a son who lives with his girl friend. He said he addresses his letters to Jane and John Doe. Now that's what I do.

A Page Of Opinion

Shared Problem

Proof that heads of state are preoccupied with internal affairs is the lack of large numbers of foreign leaders coming to Washington to meet the new President. It had become almost a tradition for the parade to form in days after a new incumbent moved into the White House.

Another reason for the near void in official visits is the broad scope of change which has occurred in governments in the last year. One major exception in Washington is the visit of Japanese Prime Minister Tanaka.

Japanese-American relations have improved since they plummeted precariously in 1971, on the heels of two actions by former President Nixon. The unexpected announcement of the Nixon visit to Peking, a total reversal of previous American policy and one made without prior consultation with Tokyo, shocked the Japanese as little else has done since World War II.

In the same year the United States levied a temporary 10 per cent surcharge on imports in an effort to stabilize the trade balance. This tax hit hardest at the Japanese, who were enjoying a huge trade surplus with the U.S.

All that is in the past, but Prime Minister Tanaka is in serious political trouble. A rate of inflation larger than in most of the West and constantly rising living costs have dropped his administration's popularity. Ominous for the U.S., his political party is the only major one which upholds the continuation of a broad defense treaty with the U.S.

Underlying the importance of that relationship is the scheduled trip of President

Ford to Tokyo on Nov. 19. It is a rescheduled trip formerly planned for President Nixon and it will mark two firsts for the new president.

It will be the first time an American president has visited Japan and it will be the first Foreign trip for Gerald Ford since his elevation to the White House.

In a world which in many ways is changing its political relationships too rapidly for comfort, it is important to both nations that Japan and the United States maintain best possible relations. The Tanaka-Ford exchange visits are designed primarily to do just that.

As the dominant industrial and economic force in the Pacific, Japan has a major role to play in world affairs. Its first challenge, like that of the U.S., is to bring its economy under control.

Up, Up And Away

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — So suppose you're Malcolm S. Forbes and you've got it made. You've had it made for most of your life: Lawrenceville Academy (cum laude), Princeton, beautiful wife, four stalwart sons and a lovely daughter named Moira, vestryman in the Episcopal church, member of the New York Racquet and Tennis Club, New York Yacht Club, and owner, publisher and editor-in-chief of Forbes Magazine, one of the more prestigious bibles of that downtown New York crossroads named Broad and Wall.

So why do you want to cross the Atlantic Ocean in a balloon? What are you, some kind of a nut?

You've got offices, apartments and homes all over hell 'n' gone, plus boats, cars and a DC-9 that give you vast realms in which to wander. So you and your friend, Dr. Thomas F. Heinshimer, the aerospace scientist, will spend a week or two in a gondola about the size of a telephone booth and subsist on C-rations. The only exercise available will be standing up after sitting down. You and the doc will sleep in aluminum and canvas cocoons.

You will try the Atlantic bit this coming December or January dangling from a series of 12 gas balloons strung out in four units of three. Vertically, the assembly will stand almost as tall as the Empire State Building. The gondola will sway 400 feet below the uppermost cluster of balloons. Below the gondola will be a 600-foot guide rope. The whole works will be christened "Windborne."

You know, of course, as Lindberg did, that you can get in a lot of trouble defying the Atlantic. History records 12 efforts to balloon across it. The balloonists who tried batted .000. Here's the box score:

1859 — Two optimists named Haddock and La Montaigne ascended from Watertown, N.Y. They also descended on Watertown, and were killed;

1873 — The New York Daily Graphic sponsored a 3-man balloon flight involving hearty souls named Capt. W. H. Donaldson, George Ashton Lunt and Alfred Ford. The takeoff was from Brooklyn. The trans-atlantic flight fell somewhat short — in New Canaan, Conn.

1878 — Samuel King and John Wise of St. Louis — obviously an air-minded town even then — patched together a balloon they named "Atlantic." It was an overstatement. It never got out of St. Louis.

That apparently discouraged Atlantic ballooning ambitions for three or four generations. But the ocean, like Everest, was "there," and therefore must be conquered by a bag of wind. So 1958 — Four Britishers decided that the best way to do it was to sail against, not with, the prevailing winds! They lifted off from the Canary Islands intent upon the West Indies. Incredibly, their "The Small World" traveled 1,200 miles in four days before it ran into a muscular storm that knocked it to the surface of the sea. Their sea-worthy gondola was a marvel. They sailed it safely 1,500 miles to Barbados.

1968-1969 — Francis Brenton, an Englishman, living in Chicago, tried it twice, from the Canaries and from Madeira, and was twice dunked.

1968 — Two Canadians, Mark Winters and Jerry Kostur, rose from Halifax and got as far as 50 miles short of Nova Scotia before their bag sagged.

1970 — Jaunty stockbroker Rodney Anderson and his daring wife Pamela, along with a British professional balloonist named Malcolm Brighton rose from posh East Hampton, Long Island in their heated gas job, "The Free Life." They went down off Newfoundland in a crushing cloud-burst, and the only thing ever found of the ill-starred expedition was a picnic cooler.

1973 — "Yankee Zephyr," manned by Bob Sparks hit the drink less than 24 hours after his launch from Bar Harbor, Me. A Canadian icebreaker fished him out of the water 45 miles northeast of St. John's, Newfoundland.

1974 — Dashing Col. Tom Gatch (U.S. Army reserve), son of a famed World War II vice admiral, sailed away from Harrisburg, Pa. in a fiberglass gondola suspended from ten helium-filled balloons. His ship "Light Heart," was last reported to be 1,000 miles west of the Canary Islands. That was February 21. Nothing since, despite a massive sea search. A $10,000 reward for any information about his whereabouts, posted by his sisters, is still operative.

1974 — Robert C. Berger kissed his wife good-bye at Lakehurst, N.J. and she was still on TV, waving and smiling, when his 12-story helium balloon came apart and he plunged to his death off the Jersey coast.

Anyway, rots ruck Malcolm Forbes, and you, too, Doc. To paraphrase an old Irish wish, may the jetstream be always at your backs.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The biggest components in the selling price of a new, single-family house are generally considered to be the cost of construction materials, 32 per cent, land, 25 per cent, and labor, about 15 per cent.

Since the price of all three has risen sharply in the past few years, so has the sales price of the average new house—from $30,500 in 1972, to $35,500 last year, according to The Conference Board.

Over a 10-year period to 1973, states the board, a business and economic research organization, the price of comparable new homes rose 84 per cent. It cites Federal Home Loan Bank Board figures to indicate that the price tags on existing homes doubled in the same period.

But now the catch. With mortgage money tight and with many families unable to come up with the substantial down payments required, the housing market has shriveled almost to nothingness in many areas.

This means the proud homeowner who brags about his hedge against inflation — "I can get double what I paid for my house" — may be living in an illusory world. If there isn't a market, how can there be a selling price?

True, when the market comes alive again, he might obtain double his money. But if he were to sell today, he might find that big price tag cannot be converted into dollar bills.

Even before the economic summits of the past month, the subject of credit allocation was being discussed in banking and housing circles, among others.

Advocates of allocation claimed that some deserving sections of the economy, such as housing, were being starved for funds because they couldn't pay the price. Allocation of credit by price alone was unfair, they said.

The arguments against allocation by other criteria, such as social good or greater productivity, were immediately attacked by economists and financial men. Controls on credit, they claimed, would only make matters worse.

What they really were saying, however, was that controls by government would be bad but that controls by private industry, that is, the bankers, would be permissible. The fact is, that banks must control their distribution of credit.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is it possible to look directly into the lungs to find the reason for a cough which has lasted for years? X-rays show my lungs to be normal.

Mr. R.L.B., Ga.

Dear Mr. B.:

An instrument called the bronchoscope can be passed through the mouth directly into the lungs to inspect the inner lining of the bronchial tubes. By this method, almost all of the bronchial tubes can be examined for chronic infection and growths.

Cultures and sputum examination made directly through the bronchoscope add valuable information to the diagnosis of complicated lung conditions.

It is also possible to put a liquid dye through the bronchoscope, allowing the fluid to trickle down into the more inaccessible areas.

Then, by X-ray, the dye is followed in an effort to uncover malformations or diseases that might otherwise remain hidden.

Bronchoscopy can be performed under local or general anesthesia. It is not a routine procedure. It is used when the doctor cannot easily uncover the reasons for a persistent cough.

Is a fissure of the rectum the same as a hemorrhoid?

Wife's Bout With Cancer Could Change Ford's Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Betty Ford's bout with cancer has cast a question mark over President Ford's immediate and long-range political plans.

Soon after the First Lady underwent surgery for breast cancer Saturday, the President told aides to curtail his public schedule for the next week.

Ford also enlisted Vice President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller to

Mrs. G.C., Wash.

Dear Mrs. C.: They are not the same, but sometimes they occur together. Hemorrhoids are enlargements of the veins which normally are present around the rectal opening.

Poor bowel habits, straining and chronic constipation can enlarge these veins. The pressure of repeated childbirth can be responsible, too.

A fissure is a slit, or a cleft, that occurs in the skin (the mucous membrane lining) of the rectal opening. Known as "fissure-in-ano," it may also be caused by straining at stool.

When a fissure is neglected a small ulcer forms. Bleeding may occur.

The treatment for fissure and for hemorrhoids is based on individual evaluation of the condition. Local treatment or surgery can be the decision only of the doctor who has followed the course of the problem.

Ohio Lottery Legal Costs $72,000

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Costs of starting up the state lottery and untangling restrictive federal laws cost about $72,000 in legal fees this year, the Ohio Lottery Commission reported this weekend.

That amount was paid to the Cleveland firm of Burke, Haber and Berick, lottery fiscal officer Herbert J. McAuliffe said. The commission's special legal counsel, Stephen Parisi, is a member of the firm.

Lottery Commissioner Bernice MacKenzie of Canton defended the payments, saying they were realistic and that the performance of the firm's staff was impressive.

Parisi consistently supplied the commissioners with well researched opinions on a subject without precedent in the state, said Mrs. MacKenzie, also a lawyer.

She credited the firm with preparing the arguments that led the U.S. Justice department to approve Ohio lottery operations last week.

Parisi said the lottery's problems would "drastically taper off." He said his job is self-extinguishing.

Asst. Atty. Gen. George Jenkins said in Columbus that it might have been cheaper to assign assistant attorneys general to the commission but that the job calls for special expertise which couldn't have been provided by "one or two assistants."

Cincinnati Board Hires 23 Teachers

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Relenting to pressure which sparked a demonstration last month, the Cincinnati Board of Education has hired 23 teachers and eliminated the need to transfer three others.

Avondale parents protested the transfers in a demonstration outside the North Avondale Elementary School in September.

Art Show Allowed

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet abstract artists finally succeeded in displaying their work at an outdoor show attended by more than 5,000 persons, but most of them think it will be the last exhibit of its kind.

The artists' first attempt to show their work two weeks ago was broken up by plainclothes police using bulldozers and water cannon. After widespread foreign condemnation, the Moscow city council gave official sanction to an exhibit Sunday.

There were no uniformed police in sight this time, but eight busloads of militiamen were standing by a mile away.

Six of the 61 exhibiting artists were reported to be members of the official artists' union who took part even though they had been warned by the union to stay away. The others were artists whose work does not conform with the realistic style approved by the Communist party.

"This is the first time I've exhibited publicly since 1963 and it will probably be the last for a while," said Misha Chernishev.

Many of the other artists agreed.

Rodino Enjoys New Popularity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Peter W. Rodino Jr., who used to be just a face in the political crowd, says he's enjoying the spotlight that was generated by presiding over the House Judiciary Committee impeachment inquiry.

"Face it, I'm a human being," the New Jersey congressman said in an interview. "These plaudits are satisfying."

Rodino, 65 and serving his 13th term as representative of New Jersey's 10th congressional district, vaulted from relative obscurity to national prominence as chairman of the televised committee hearings on the impeachment of Richard M. Nixon.

Now speaking invitations pile up at his Capitol Hill office, Democratic colleagues want him to campaign for them and his name is recognized across the country.

It was not always so. Two years ago, when his name was placed in vice presidential nomination at the Democratic National Convention many delegates had never heard of him. He got 62 votes.

"I never sought the glare of the spotlight," Rodino said. "I never looked forward to any of this. My objective was to contribute something good to the system. I never sought it, but I guess in politics survival depends on letting people know what you have done."

He takes special pride in the fact that "people keep telling me that 'you and your committee restored faith in our system.'"

The committee recommended the impeachment of Nixon, but the former president resigned before the issue went to the House.

"The system is working," Rodino declared. "What better way to celebrate the bicentennial than to point out that the Constitution is a living thing — that we met the test?"

The Italian-American lawmaker from Newark sometimes feels like a fish out of water campaigning for colleagues.

"Jeez, what do I say to a bunch of farmers?" he reportedly inquired of an aide recently before addressing a rural crowd in South Dakota.

This fall, he is to campaign in Indiana, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Iowa, Kansas, Oregon, and New York. The party has asked him to address a meeting of the Democratic National Committee next month.

Before he chaired the impeachment hearings, out-of-town speaking invitations came mostly from ethnic groups, particularly Italian-American organizations.

His new fame has meant personal sacrifices such as giving up family dinner outings on weekends. And it has cut into his paddleball, opera and reading time.

Now the Judiciary Committee is gearing up for hearings on the nomination of Nelson A. Rockefeller to be vice president. And Rodino has to worry about his own political survival.

Like every other House member, he's up for re-election in November.

Deaths Said Suicide Pact

LAKEWOOD, Ohio (AP)—A 69-year-old man apparently killed his wife and then himself Monday in the belief she was incurably ill, police in this Cleveland suburb said.

The couple was found dead in the bedroom, shot in the head, after the wife's brother received a tearful phone call from the husband, saying, "I'm sorry."

The victims were identified by police as Gladys and Irvin Sears of Lakewood.

Mrs. Sears had been troubled by severe headaches and was to be admitted to the hospital. Her doctor, Homer Yoder, said he had found no evidence of serious disease.

The Cuyahoga County coroner ruled the deaths homicide and suicide.

Ohio Prison Land Purchase Waste Claimed

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A state audit concludes the administration of former Gov. James Rhodes wasted more than $1 million in buying land for the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility at Lucasville and that Gov. John Gilligan's administration has handled financial affairs poorly at the prison, The Plain Dealer said today.

The newspaper's Tuesday editions said the charges were contained in a 2½-inch-thick report compiled by four state examiners from July 1, 1972, to March 18, 1974. The report was to be released today.

The auditors reportedly found that the Rhodes administration spent $250,000 for 715 acres in October 1966, weeks before soil tests showed the property too wet to build on.

The state then paid $425,525 for more land and was forced to spend $650,000 to improve that.

The report also states the prison could have been built in London on land Ohio already owned.

A 1961 Department of Public Works document is cited which shows the facility could have been built on "good level farmland" with purchase of 210 acres for $65,000 plus the state land.

Water would have been free at the site, the report states. At Lucasville, the report shows water cost $27,000 in one seven-month period.

Investigators still were reported probing the disappearance of tons of meat, spaghetti, flour and macaroni listed as destroyed at the facility because of spoilage. Some auditor department employees were said to believe the food may have been stolen.

Records also reportedly show 771 gallons of gasoline at the prison were unaccounted for.

Miss Bobbin Herkless Bride Of Robert Peters

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT LEE PETERS

The wedding of Miss Bobbin Kay Herkless and Mr. Robert Lee Peters was an event of 6:30 p.m., July 16th, in the Circleville Church of the Nazarene.

The Rev. William Hill officiated the double ring ceremony before the altar decorated with a fan shaped arrangement of white mums flanked with seven-branch candelabra.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Herkless, 1075 Mulberry Road, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. Norman Peters and Mrs. Lucille Peters, Scioto St.

Nuptial selections were presented by Mrs. Eugene H. Dowler, organist and Mr. John Dowler, pianist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and mother. For her wedding she selected a formal length gown of white organza. The bodice featured a sheer chantilly lace yoke with a high ruffled neckline and Dresden lace sleeves with ruffles at the wrists. Her full tiered skirt with sequined chantilly lace encircling each of three flounces extended to a chapel train. The bride's elbow length veil of tiered illusion flowed softly from a cluster of sequin and pearl trimmed lace petals. She wore a gold locket, a gift of the bridegroom and carried a white handkerchief edged with lace which belonged to her great-grandmother. Her bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of white daisies and carnations, red rosebuds and white satin streamers tied in lover's knots.

Miss Becky Herkless was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a floor length gown of green floral crepe and carried a single long stemmed rose. Miss Jo Myers, Miss Kathy Logan and Miss Amy Woods were the bridesmaids. They were gowned identically to the honor attendant and carried single longstemmed roses. The attendants all wore necklaces given to them by the bride.

Miss Amy Ward, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She was in a street length dress of floral print and carried a white wicker basket filled with rose petals. Ring bearer was Master Robert Ward, cousin of the bridegroom.

Mr. Tim Brown performed the duties of best man. Ushers were Mr. Kenneth Rhoads, uncle of the bridegroom and Mr. Michael Swinehart, an uncle of the bride.

Mrs. Herkless was attired in a street length dress of peach and white floral print and a corsage of peach and white carnations.

Mrs. Peters selected a street length dress of white and light blue, and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception in the youth center followed the ceremony. Tables were decorated with candles and greenery. The three tiered wedding cake was topped with a symbol of the cross with interlocking wedding bands and encircled at the base with greenery.

Hostesses were Miss Cindy Bauer, Miss Kandy Koch, Mrs. Cathy Lugenbeel, Mrs. Charles Ward, Miss Nancy Clifton and Mrs. Sheldon Winner. Miss Cindy Peters, sister of the bridegroom presided at the guest book.

The bride is a graduate of Circleville High School. The bridegroom, also a graduate of Circleville High School, is employed by Scioto Coca Cola Bottling Co. The couple now resides at 119½ S. Pickaway St.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Charles Ward, at her home the evening before the wedding.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Columbus, Barberton, Upper Sandusky, Lancaster, Ashville and Centerville.

Attorney General Ripped By Opponent

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—George Smith, the Republican candidate for attorney general, said Monday incumbent William J. Brown's "inexcusable negligence" in the handling of a nursing homes loan case had cost the state $2 million.

Smith said Brown had lost a chance to sue Four Seasons Nursing Centers for $250,000 interest on state loans when he failed to file "a single sheet of paper," separating Ohio's case from those of a mass of creditors.

"Brown's neglect resulted in a formal settlement agreement effectively denying Ohio all interest income and making Ohio accept a small fraction ($400,000) of the money due the state," Smith said on Monday.

Brown's office conceded Monday the form enabling Ohio to "opt out" of the lumped together settlement had been inadvertently overlooked when the state received a voluminous set of papers announcing the proposed settlement in October of 1972.

However, a spokesman for the attorney general said Smith had oversimplified a complicated situation.

Brown filed a $4 million lawsuit in March of 1972 in an effort to recover the loan principal, interest and damages from Four Seasons, which went into bankruptcy and was subsequently reorganized as ANTA Corp. The State loans to Four Seasons were made in 1970 and became part of the Statehouse loan scandal that year under the Rhodes administration.

Litigation involving hundreds of creditors against Four Seasons eventually was transferred to Oklahoma City—but not Ohio's case.

However, the federal judge hearing the case in Oklahoma City redefined the class action suit as broad enough to include Ohio.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Ron Brown said the state's lawyers were under the impression the case had been settled "around Ohio" when the decision was announced on Dec. 4, 1972. It had not been.

"They shortcutted steps which normally occur in a class action case," Ron Brown said.

The state asked to be excused from the district court settlement. It was, but the decision later was overturned

U.S. Losing Canadian Beef Market Read The Classifieds

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Agriculture Department expert said today that a new import quota system for livestock and meat shipped into Canada threatens to take a $100-million bite from U.S. farm exports.

Robert R. Anlauf of the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said further the quotas could "further aggravate an already difficult marketing situation" between the two countries.

Canada had been tightening import restrictions, particularly for cattle and beef for some time. Then, last April 9, the government flatly banned imports of slaughter cattle and beef unless they were certified as having never been exposed to the synthetic growth hormone, DES.

Canada later announced a new quota system beginning Aug. 12 and said that it would run for a full year. Meantime, a system of DES certification was agreed upon so that U.S. cattle and beef could begin entering Canada again this fall.

Anlauf, writing in a weekly issue of Foreign Agriculture, said the Canadian quotas apply also to other foreign suppliers such as Australia and New Zealand and thus could cause diversions of beef into the United States, the only major market where severe import curbs have not been put into effect.

Last week the American National Cattlemen's Association called for a complete embargo on imports of beef into the United States.

"Until other beef importing nations reopen their borders and absorb some of the world's beef surplus, U.S. cattlemen have no alternative but to insist upon an embargo on beef imports," Gordon Van Vleck, association president, said in Denver.

In his analysis today, Anlauf said Canada apparently wants to roll back U.S. cattle and beef imports to historical levels but fails to take into consideration what has happened lately regarding shifts in Canadian beef grading standards.

Anlauf said a new Canadian beef grading system in October 1972 resulted in a severe decrease in the supply of animals in lower-grade categories. As a result, animals that had previously been mostly in the top grades destined for hotel and restaurant consumption were discounted heavily and graded in lower categories.

"To meet the new requirements, Canadian cattle feeders shortened their feeding period to produce animals with less (fat) marbling and leaner beef," Anlauf said.

But, he said, the hotel and restaurant trade continued to demand the previously higher grades of beef. That helped prompt a large volume of U.S. grain-fed cattle and beef into the Canadian market.

The current quota system permits 82,835 live slaughter cattle from the United States to enter Canada during the year, plus 17.9 million pounds of fresh and frozen dressed beef. By comparison, in calendar 1973 about

Separate KSU Trials Rejected

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A federal judge has rejected defense attorneys' requests for separate trials for eight former Ohio National Guardsmen indicted in the 1970 Kent State University shootings.

Chief U.S. District Judge Frank Battisti cited the expense and inconvenience to the public as well as to the defendants and other witnesses who would have to repeat their testimony.

He said separate trials would cause lengthy delays.

The judge also denied defense lawyers' requests that the charges of violating students' civil rights be dismissed because the indictments were too vague.

A defense request for an FBI report on the burning of an ROTC building at Kent State also was denied. The building was burned May 2, two days before four students were killed and nine wounded in a burst of gunfire during a confrontation between guardsmen and students taking part in an antiwar rally.

But the start of the trial was delayed a week to Oct. 21 to give Battisti time to hear motions for suppression of some evidence. The trial was to begin Oct. 15.

Battisti has heard two hours of testimony on defense lawyers' requests that statements taken from the defendants shortly after the shootings be suppressed because the eight were not told of their rights.

Canton McKinley Tops Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Canton McKinley, a two time former state champion, rode a 73-0 walloping of Alliance last week into first place in The Associated Press Ohio high school football poll.

A statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters elevated the 4-0 Bulldogs one spot in the No. 1 position, dropping Upper Arlington, last week's pacesetter, into second place.

However, the margin was only one point, 228-227, and third-place Warren Western Reserve was only six points in arrears.

Form held in the Class AA and Class A polls.

In Class AA, Akron St. Vincent-St. Mary, with four opening triumphs, earned 188 points, 28 ahead of runnerup Warren Kennedy. The two play Saturday night in Warren.

In Class A, Plain City Alder, also 4-0, piled up 208 points to 186 for Bluffton, the new runnerup. Bluffton moved up a notch from third place last week after No. 2 Portsmouth Notre Dame fell to New Boston and tumbled to eighth this

There were two newcomers in the Class AAA top ten.

Niles McKinley moved into ninth and Columbus Whitehall took over No. 10. Steubenville, bowing to Warren Harding, dropped from sixth to 19th. Fremont Ross, tied by Lorain King, went from 10th to a tie for 15th.

Warren Western Reserve held onto third place among the large schools with Warren Harding advancing one spot to No. 4. Cincinnati Moeller was fifth, Cincinnati Elder sixth, Lakewood St. Edward seventh and Findlay eighth.

OSU Remains Atop Grid Poll

NEW YORK (AP) — Texas A&M and Texas Tech, a pair of perennial Southwest Conference also-rans, found themselves listed among the nation's top 10 college football teams Monday in the Associated Press weekly poll of sportswriters and broadcasters.

A&M, 3-0, got into the prestigious top five this time around, advancing from ninth to fifth on the strength of a 28-15 victory over Washington. The Aggies collected 554 total points and even drew a first-place vote on one ballot.

Tech, 2-0-1, was not even listed in the top 20 last week, but vaulted into the No. 10 spot this week after shocking Texas 26-3.

Ohio State, 3-0, remained the nation's No. 1 team after defeating Southern Methodist 28-9. The Buckeyes collected 26 first-place votes and 1,044 points.

Oklahoma, 2-0, was just a shade behind with 25 first-place votes and 1,002 points. The Sooners embarrassed Utah State 72-3 to move up from third to second place.

Alabama, 3-0, and Michigan, 4-0, climbed one place each. The No. 3 Crimson Tide collected three first-place selections and 898 points after topping Vanderbilt 23-10, while Michigan picked up four first-place votes and 878 points after sinking Navy 52-0. Nebraska, 3-0, jumped from 10th to

Lenvil Elliott Running Well For Bengals

CINCINNATI (AP) — Considered too slow to play football for some major colleges, running back Lenvil Elliott is providing the Cincinnati Bengals with some fast relief.

The second-year pro from tiny Northeast Missouri State has soothed the loss of top ground gainer Essex Johnson.

"It doesn't bother me one bit that I'm not starting," said the Bengals 10th round draft choice of 1973. "I'm contributing, that's the important thing."

The 23-year-old Missouri native has produced as a spot player in Coach Paul Brown's scheme of firing fresh backs at the opposition.

"Coach took Charlie Davis and I aside the other day and said he considered us both starters. He said he didn't want either of us to think of ourselves as second stringers just because somebody starts a game," said Elliott.

Davis, the fleet rookie from Colorado, has been starting in place of the injured Johnson. Davis is averaging 6.5 yards per carry in 15 attempts and Elliott 5.6 in 21 carries.

"It's really been effective," said Elliott. "Once we get Essex back we should have the best backfield depth of any National Football League club. Nobody's going to wear us down."

Redskins Trample Broncos For 30-3 Win

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bill Kilmer, limping with a pulled calf muscle, tried unsuccessfully to tell everyone that he was only a small part of the Washington Redskins' victory over the Denver Broncos.

"It was a team effort ... the offense, the defense and the special teams," he said. "We didn't make any mistakes and they did. We didn't have any interceptions. We didn't have any fumbles."

Despite his comments, Kilmer threw two touchdown passes to Charlie

Taylor, including one early in the first quarter, to lead the Redskins to a 30-3 victory in the National Football League nationally televised interconference game.

The victory put the Redskins in second place in the NFC Eastern Division with Philadelphia, each with records of 2-1, behind undefeated St. Louis, 3-0. The loss gave Denver a record of 0-2-1, last in the AFC Western Division.

In addition to Kilmer's two touchdown passes to Taylor, Mark Moseley kicked field goals of 37, 22, and 18 yards and Duane Thomas scored a touchdown with 11 seconds remaining in the game to give the Redskins more total points than they have scored in two previous contests this season.

Denver's only score came on a 34-yard field goal by Jim Turner in the third period.

"The Redskins are back," said Washington Coach George Allen. "We're back together as a team. We had the old spirit tonight."

Denver Coach John Ralston said: "Bill Kilmer did an outstanding job. His execution was never better. It was just one of those nights when Kilmer was at his best."

Kilmer had 17 completions in 23 attempts for 223 yards and two touchdowns.

Reds Can Only Win, Anderson Says

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Reds Manager George "Sparky" Anderson said his club "can't do anything about" the suddenly-tightened National League West race—except win its final two games in Atlanta.

"It's not a matter of needing a lift from a Dodger loss. We know we lose one and we're out of it," said Anderson after hearing that Los Angeles' lead slipped to two games Monday night. Both the Dodgers and Reds have two games remaining. The Dodgers, who lost to Houston 4-1 Monday, have already assured themselves of a tie for the pennant.

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Hickory Stout captured the feature condition pace at Lebanon Raceway Monday night, going the mile in 2:05 2-5.

A 3-7 combination of Lida Frost and Contented returned $13.60 in the daily double.

Handle was $389,309 from the crowd of 1,210.

Blue Cross Merger Program Started

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Blue Cross of Southwest Ohio has embarked on a program seeking merger with other "healthy" hospital care units in the state, anticipating passage of a national health bill by Congress.

Marvin Walker, president of the Cincinnati-based plan with 1.55 million members, said Blue Cross here anticipates not only that National Health Insurance will be approved but that it will be operated by larger local units.

"What we're doing," said Walker, "is offering the most sophisticated people and computer equipment to take advantage of the lower costs of big business efficiency and the advantage of grass roots handling at the local end."

The Blue Cross unit of Lima, Ohio, encompassing eight counties and 152,000 members, has agreed to merge with the Cincinnati group as of Jan. 1, 1975.

Blue Cross units at Youngstown and Canton, Ohio, currently are negotiating a possible merger with Cincinnati.

Walker said the local plans will retain their own memberships and personnel, with the Cincinnati operation, called Hospital Care Corporation, doing only the processing.

Once merger occurs, all participating plans will be represented on the board of directors. Local plans will compute their own rates as in the past.

He said plan members in individual units will not subsidize membership in other plans through rates. Each unit will retain its own funds and rate structure based on costs, Walker said.

Blue Cross of Cincinnati supervises members in 15 counties including Dayton, Ohio.

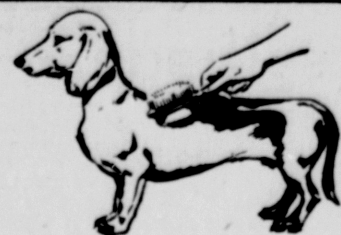

Walker said Lima officials elected to join the larger unit after a test run of their operating procedures was put through the Cincinnati computers.

The Lima plan encompasses Allen, Augalize, Hancock, Hardin, Mercer, Putnam, Shelby and Van Wert.

"This is the first time," said Walker, "that mergers have been sought between healthy plans."

He said Hospital Care Corp. is now second in membership in Ohio only to the Cleveland plan. If Canton and Youngstown elect to join, it will be the eighth largest plan in the United States.

Control Board OKs Transfer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Controlling Board allowed a transfer of funds Monday within a widespread state agency after it learned how much inflation could cost it the current fiscal year.

The board allowed the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation to move $1.1 million earmarked for 1974 spending to its fiscal 1975 operating budget.

Clem Davis, representing the agency with 29 institutions, said programs wouldn't be curtailed because of $2.2 million federal grant last fiscal year and one for $2.5 in the works this year.

He said, however, that inflation would cost the state $3.7 million more to feed the 8,000 persons in the current fiscal year than it did the last, based on current costs and food consumed last year.

Utilities will be up $3.5 million, coal up $3.5 million and there similar jumps, percentage wise in farm supplies and patient labor costs, he said.

NL East Remains In Tie

By ALEX SACHARE AP Sports Writer

Bruce Kison of Pittsburgh and Bob Forsch of St. Louis, a pair of pitchers who were pretty much overlooked in the preseason analyses, matched three-hitters Monday night to keep the National League East race in a flat-footed tie.

Kison rode pinch-hitter Richie Zisk's tie-breaking seventh-inning triple to a 2-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs, while Ted Simmons' three-run homer in the first inning provided more than enough of a margin as Forsch pitched the Cardinals to a 5-1 victory over the Montreal Expos.

Meanwhile, in the NL West, the Houston Astros prevented Los Angeles from clinching the title by beating the Dodgers 4-1. Los Angeles now leads secondplace Cincinnati by two games, with two to play.

In the only other National League game, the New York Mets beat the Philadelphia Phillies 5-2.

Kison had a shaky first inning, allowing two singles, a hit batsman and a bases-loaded walk to force in a run, but then settled down.

Kison, 9-8, allowed just one single and a walk the rest of the way — by far his strongest game of the season and his first complete game since 1972.

Pittsburgh and St. Louis each have two games remaining. The Pirates play host to the Cubs while the Cardinals are at Montreal.

Zisk, batting for shortstop Frank Taveras, clouted his game-winning triple in the seventh to score Manny Sanguillen, who had singled and taken second on a wild pitch.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Survey chances: Some will be excellent. Plan on some expansion but don't go overboard. Be careful not to repeat past errors and DO be accurate in handling details.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Difficult situations? Analyze, then attack — with self-confidence and optimism. You can utilize your connections in profitable ways during the p.m.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A good period in which to enrich personal relationships, gain support for sound causes. Especially favored: romance, culture and creative pursuits.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Once you have made up your mind, back up decisions with vigorous action. You may run into some opposition, but you can counteract with reason and logic.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): A day for listening! Give careful thought to all that is said in conferences, discussions. If completely unbiased, you could learn much to your advantage.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Domestic matters and business interests should go especially well, but it's the kind of day that will reward ANY good effort — even if unusual complications are involved.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): A test day of sorts. Select your own course if you prefer, but avoid contention with those who have a program on which you really should work. Cooperation will pay off.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Some unforeseen changes indicated. Take all in stride. Be temperate in demands, do not expect the unreasonable and tackle as much as you can without overtaxing yourself.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Despite a few minor obstacles, you should do well now. Work with those who are adept at getting things done, and don't squander your fine talents on trivia.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Mixed influences, mixed possibilities. How you react, how you meet competition and how you cooperate with associates will be telling points in day's results.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A new prospect may be up for consideration, but before accepting, ascertain whether it is REALLY what you want.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Thinking about new ventures will not be enough. Back good ideas with ACTION — after determining their value, feasibility.

YOU BORN TODAY: Yours is a highly emotional and artistic personality. Many musicians, poets, painters and writers were born under Libra. Your magnetic personality could also make you a great success on the stage, but you must learn to control your emotions since giving into them interferes with the concentration needed for a top-flight career. With your versatility, there are many fields which you can conquer in the pursuit of a happy and successful life and, should you not choose one of the aforementioned arts, you could do equally well in medicine, the law, designing or business management.

John Glenn's Daughter Hits Campaign Trail

By SUE BOYER
Herald Staff Writer

Lyn Glenn Power, the daughter of U.S. Senate candidate John Glenn, passed through Circleville Monday on her campaign trail. Mrs. Power, quite familiar with her father's campaign issues, gave a rundown of the major standings. She said she does encourage all voters to write all the candidates to become more familiar with each issue before making the final decision at the polls.

Although Glenn is not for wage and price controls as yet, he does feel that inflation should be placed toward the top of the list of priorities. He recently released a seven-point approach which included measures for controlling deficit governmental spending and scrutinizing the policies of the Federal Reserve Board.

Another issue in Glenn's seven-point approach to the inflation problem is tax reform. His daughter explains that an estimated 78.2 billion dollars will be lost this year alone in tax loopholes which ultimately only benefit the rich. She maintains that the minimum tax law has never been adequate to combat the problem but enforcement of anti-trust laws could be the answer.

Food and energy products account for 60 per cent of the exorbitant rise in the cost of living. The Glenn campaign favors a target price increase for the farmer who, despite the sharp rise in the agricultural products, still falls short. The greater part of the food dollar does not benefit the farmer but the middle man.

Mrs. Power cited the rise in the energy products as one of the major factors contributing to the rise in the middle man's profit. The rise in the cost of gasoline for the transportation of the food product and then the rise in the cost of the processing of that product has allowed the man between the farmer and the consumer to up his prices.

As part of her campaign for her father, Lyn has studied a booklet on each of the counties she visits. Well informed on the industry and agricultural status of our county, she reflected that Pickaway County ranks ninth in the state in total agricultural products, second in the production of cattle and calves and eighth in the production of hogs. She also said Pickaway County had ample supplies of all professions and as far as she knew, it was the only county that did not lack some professional men.

Glenn's campaign focused next on the energy problem. His solution to the problem is a national energy policy.

Another important political question on which Glenn has issued a position is national health care. He emphasizes a preventative health care program with set prices for everyone.

Glenn's daughter closed her campaign with what she called the foremost issue, the choice of the candidate. She said that she and her father had never assumed he was running well for the Senate but continued to work as hard as ever. She encourages voters to become well-informed about all the political candidates and be knowledgeable about their respective issues and responses.

She emphasized the importance of the quality of leadership in the high governmental positions and said that only through well-informed voters can the caliber of the leadership be improved.

Neither Glenn nor his daughter believe he won the nomination over Metzenbaum because of his name but because the voters had become informed. The foremost points on a list of why he won the nomination were cited as understanding on the part of the voters. The tax issue and his standing on it ranked toward the bottom of the list.

John Glenn was born in Cambridge and is married to Anna Margaret Castor Glenn. He spent 23 years in the United States Marines and retired from the service in 1964 at which time he began campaigning for the Senate. Because of a fall which caused injuries, he withdrew from the race in 1964 and ran again and lost to Metzenbaum in 1970.

The Senatorial candidate holds a bachelor of science degree from Muskingum College but is best known for his career as a NASA astronaut.

Lyn Glenn Power is the youngest of the Glenns' two children. A son, David is a medical student at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland. Lyn is married to Mike Power, a systems analyst in Washington, D. C. She worked as a researcher for two years before retiring to devote her time to her father's political campaign. After the campaign is over, she plans to either go on to law school or to teach retarded children.

Lyn's husband works for the Federal Energy Administration in the field of conservation. He worked for three years under Dr. Henry Kissinger.

Circleville Girl Joins Players Club

BECKY SOWERS

Becky Sowers, daughter of George and B.J. Sowers, 125 S. Pickaway St., has been selected to join the new Youth Performing Company of Players Club Theatre in Columbus.

The company, limited to 25 students, ages 13 through 18, chooses each member by auditions for ability, interest and seriousness of intent from the Franklin County area.

The group will meet in one formal class per week and be totally responsible for the production of two plays specifically for young audiences.

The two productions for this new company will include, "Aesop's Fables", the first rock musical written specifically for young people and one of the most popular youth plays in the country today. The musical adds a modern, new twist to the old "fired and true" fables of Aesop, with music, guaranteed to delight young and old alike.

"Runaway", a new-fangled musical play of a modern Tom Sawyer's search for a place of importance and the obstacles of life that get in his way. It proves to be an enchanting journey for the entire family to enjoy together.

The Youth Club is under the direction of Ed Graczyk, resident director of Players Club Theatre. Graczyk has had much experience and success in the field of youth productions and has received many National and International Awards in this dimension of theatre.

Ms. Sowers is a sophomore at Circleville High School and is active in the SOS Club, Latin Club and the Tiger Marching Band.

She also won the best ballet dancer award in the International Talent Pageant at Wooster College in July, 1973.

A dancing student, for seven years, of Betty Sherick, Ms. Sowers has appeared in productions of Roundtown Players and just recently was a featured dancer in "Can Can" for the Chillicothe Civic Theatre.

Witnesses Get New District Overseer

Jehovah's Witnesses in the Circleville area will be introduced to their new district supervisor at the coming Circuit Assembly beginning Saturday.

The assembly will be at the London Assembly Hall. The new district supervisor is John W. Stuefloten, who has been in the full time ministry since 1939. He will be giving the public address, "What the Near Future Holds."

Gans Named Chairman Of Bank Group

Frank A. Gans, president of The First National Bank of Circleville was recently elected chairman of Group Four of the Ohio Bankers Association (OBA) during the Group's annual meeting held at the Elks Country Club, Portsmouth.

As chairman, Gans will preside over a trade organization that includes in its membership all commercial banks in Adams, Brown, Clinton, Fayette, Gallia, Jackson, Lawrence, Highland, Pickaway, Pike, Ross, Scioto and Vinton counties.

The Group is one of nine that comprise the OBA, headquartered in Columbus. By virtue of his new position, Gans will sit on the OBA Council of Administration, governing body of the trade association that represents all of Ohio's 499 commercial banks and their 2049 banking offices.

Gans, a native of Point Marion, Pa., began his full time banking career in 1948 with the City National Bank of Columbus. In 1951 he moved to The Buckeye State Bank, Galion, as assistant cashier and was promoted to cashier in 1951.

He then held successive positions as vice president of the First National Bank of Cambridge, and the First National Bank of Sebring, before coming to Circleville in 1967 as president of First National.

Active in community affairs, Gans is a past president of the Circleville Chamber of Commerce and past chairman of the Cambridge United Appeal. He has also served for three years as trustee of the First Presbyterian Church of Circleville.

Voter Registration Deadline Oct. 7

The Pickaway County Board of Elections, located in the courthouse basement, will observe longer hours this weekend for registration of new voters.

Extended hours for voters are: 9 a.m. to noon, Saturday and 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday, according to Nancy Ayers, Director, County Board of Elections.

Voters are also reminded of the new laws concerning voter eligibility and absent balloting.

Polls, beginning with the November 1974 election, will remain open until 7:30 p.m., voting day.

Pertaining to primary elections, 17-year-olds may vote in the primary election, if they will be 18-year-old by the time of the November general elections. They are eligible to vote for candidates only and not for issues.

The application form for absentee balloting does not now need to be in any specific form. If the voter does not appear personally at the board of elections, he may write the board a letter and request absent voter ballots. The letter must include five items.

1. The name by which the voter is registered and his voting residence.
2. The election for which ballots are requested.

3. If it is a primary election, which party.

4. The reason for the person's absence from the polls on election day.

5. The mailing address to which the ballots are to be mailed.

Application for absent voter ballots may be made by civilians until noon Nov. 2 and Armed service ballots may be applied for up to 7:30 p.m. Nov. 5. Persons 62-years-old or over may vote an absent voter ballot. Disabled persons may vote absentee without a doctor's certificate of their disability.

The requirements for notarization have been eliminated. A statement under penalty of election falsification is made similar to the statement a taxpayer signs on his tax return.

Notarization has also been eliminated for registrations, making it easier for the disabled and those who register by mail.

Married women will be permitted to vote under their maiden name if they married within a period of 60 days prior to the election at which they vote. This also went into effect Sept. 27.

The usual rules of residence are applicable, requiring notification of change of address to the board of elections or possible re-registration.

"We're Independent—that means we work only for you."

"We represent a lot of insurance companies, but our only bosses are our customers."

"Because we don't work for a particular company, we can always place you with a company we think is best for your insurance needs."

"Naturally, we prefer companies like Auto-Owners who serve our customers with fast claims service, without haggling or delays."

"Like us, the people at Auto-Owners are always there when you need them."

Auto-Owners Insurance isn't just for auto owners.

HITTING THE CAMPAIGN TRAIL—Lyn Glenn Power, the pert young daughter of John Glenn, visited Circleville Monday to campaign for her father. Glenn is a U.S. Senatorial candidate running against Cleveland's Mayor Ralph Perk. Although the political polls have rated Glenn the favored candidate, both he and his daughter refrain from taking the campaign for granted. Glenn says he would prefer to run as an underdog no matter what the polls say.
